Reds Shun War, Nikita Declares

Cites Soviet Power In Talk to Poles

SOSNOWIEC, Poland (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today pledged that the Soviet Union would never start a war against anyone, anywhere at any time.

He told a cheering throng of delegates at a meeting of miners unions in this Silesian industrial town: "I give you our solemn pledge that never, never, never shall we launch any war against any country anywhere at any time."

He said he did not believe capitalist countries would start war either but claimed that was because the "balance of forces" is now overwhelmingly in favor of the Communists.

Khrushchev spoke without either text or notes in an impromptu address after he canceled a scheduled visit to the Nazi extermination camp at Oswiecim.

Khrushchev began in conversational tone, discussing his own days as a miner. He could scarcely be heard, but when he said: "Now comrades we come to international affairs," it was as though a charge of electricity ran through him.

He predicted inevitable victory for communism - with "struggles" but without war.

"I believe that, as I believe the sun will rise tomorrow."

"We want coexistence; we don't want war. We don't need war. Neither do the capitalist countries. When they thought they would win they wanted war, but I believe they have become wiser."

Khrushchev said he had told recent American visitors: "We are stronger than you are. You have no intercontinental ballistic missiles. You send up rockets containing oranges. We send up rockets which can carry several tons. Imagine the size of the bomb that could be contained in our missiles compared to the size which could be contained in yours."

"You cannot equal us."

Trucker Cited After Accident In Lisbon

LISBON — Claude E. Vinson, 33, of Pittsburgh was cited Thursday following a traffic mishap on E. Lincoln Way at 7:30 a.m., police report.

Vinson was driving west when his tractor-trailer jumped the curb, grazed a tree and struck a utility pole, breaking it off near the ground.

Vinson said his steering mechanism locked. He was cited for reckless operation.

Leetonia Acts On $102,309 Budget for '60

LEETONIA — Village Council, at a meeting Wednesday night, adopted a $102,309 budget for 1960. The budget, which is the basis for the annual appropriation ordinance, to be presented later, is slightly lower than the budget passed a year ago.

The meeting was recessed for an hour while members of Council met with the Oakdale Cemetery Board at the cemetery to determine the availability of lots.

The board members, Mrs. David Patterson, Thomas Cope and Thomas Miller, assured Council that at the present time, lots are available for approximately 200 graves. Plotting of the lots will begin immediately.

Village Clerk M. P. Burick reported receipt of $2,413 in personal property tax from the county auditor.

Councilmen explained last night that they are not responsible for the hiring and firing of Board of Public Affairs employees. It is the job of the water works superintendent, they said.

Dale McCormick of the Board of Public Affairs reported that one bid was received for the pickup truck to be purchased by the board. The contract was awarded to the Fullerton Ford Sales here.

A motion to increase the salary of the police call dispatcher from $30 to $60 a month was rejected by Council.

Those attending the meeting were Mayor Ralph B. Kennedy, Councilmen Jennie Nicolette, James Ciminelli, Richard Carney, Victor Hehl, Dan Cullinan, Joseph Weikart, Street Commissioner Richard Kleinnecht, and Solicitor Edward Greenamy.

Patches of unemployment have sprung up and will grow daily in such allied industries as rail, coal, truck, inland water shipping, iron ore mining and processing.

At the direction of President Eisenhower, Finnegan had met separately with both sides in New York to explore their positions. He said afterward he plans no formal peace moves until Monday.

Earlier, the union proposed — and the industry rejected — a plan to submit disputed issues to a

Sergeant's Idea Saves Plane With Stuck Fuel Boom

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—A huge jet tanker circled for five hours Wednesday over Griffiss Air Force Base unable to retract its fuel boom. It would be dangerous to land with it extended.

A sergeant ran a quick ground test on a new idea, then instructed the plane's crew.

The idea worked, the plane landed safely, and Col. Bryson R. Bailey, wing commander, says the technique probably will become routine Air Force procedure.

The man who produced the answer was Sgt. George M. McCabe, boom operator instructor of the 41st Air Refueling Squadron.

The crew of the KC135 tanker had struggled to recover the boom. A cable had broken after the aircraft refueled another plane over Erie, Pa.

To land with the boom extended probably would have meant sparks and perhaps an explosion. McCabe gave step-by-step instructions to Sgt. Julius H. Gerhke, crew chief, and Sgt. Bobby Flynn, boom operator.

Capt. Wendell D. Olson, the pilot, set the ship down safely. The Air Force was vague on

Compromise on Germans' Role In Confab Seen

West Stands Firm Against Russian Formula on Berlin

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union has eased up on its demands that East and West Germany sit in on secret talks at the Big Four foreign ministers conference, informed sources said today. The Soviet maneuver had threatened serious delays in the talks.

Informants said the Soviets indicated a readiness to take part in social functions from which the Germans would be barred.

Much of the real negotiations in the early phases of the conference took place at secret sessions. Public sessions, at which the Germans sat as advisers, produced little more than speecmaking.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko threw the conference into confusion Monday after it returned from a recess by announcing opposition to secret sessions unless East and West Germany took part.

The outlines of the compromise emerged after a dinner conference Wednesday night at which Jakob Malik, Soviet ambassador to London, was guest of Sir Patrick Reilly, British ambassador to Moscow. The conference still remained snarled, however, over a solution for the Berlin crisis — the basic issue that drew the four powers to Geneva.

The West stood fast against any Soviet truce formula for Berlin granting new power and prestige to the East German Communist government.

Western leaders said they would not go along with Soviet efforts to obtain a Berlin deal recognizing the East and West German regimes as political equals.

The West at Wednesday's session of the foreign ministers' conference rejected the Soviet proposal for creation of an all-German committee of East and West representatives as the payoff for agreeing to an 18-month moratorium on the Soviet demand that the occupation of West Berlin end.

The Allies now must come up with a counterproposal.

A likely Western proposal is for almost continuous Big Four consultation during the truce period, with the Germans called in as necessary only as advisers.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has given no indication the Soviet government would accept such a plan.

On the contrary, his tactic seems to be to use the Soviet

City Council Plans Meeting Friday Night

City Council is scheduled to meet in special session Friday night to pass next year's budget and to vote on a resolution certifying to the Board of Elections a $350,000 storm sewer bond issue for the November ballot.

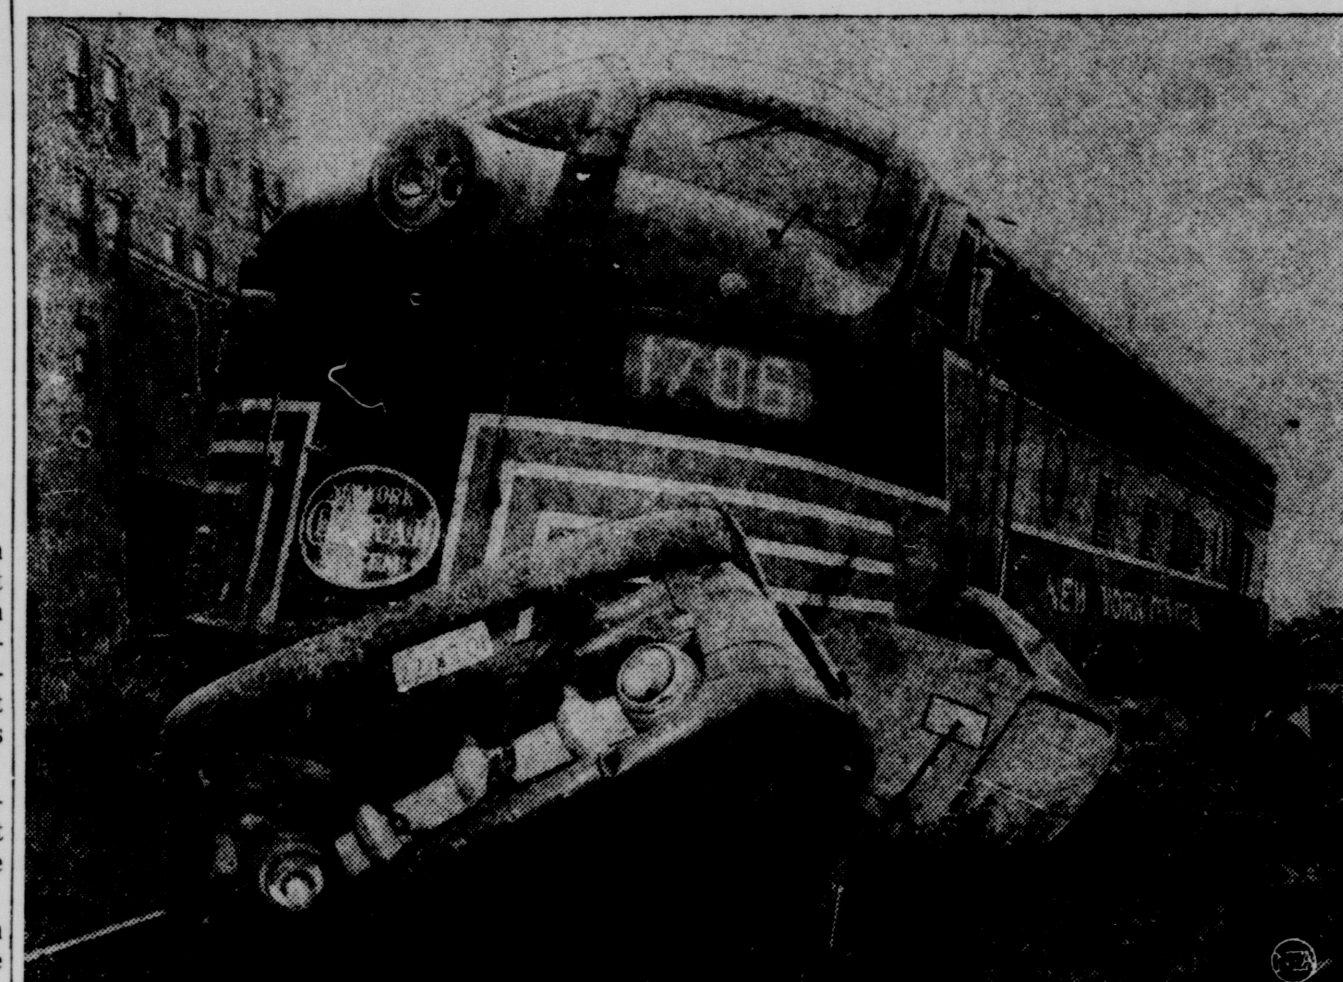

The sewer project would amount to an assessment of .55 mill for each $1 of property evaluation or 5 1/2 cents for each $100. County Auditor Kenneth Bell has approved the proposition.

Key Personnel Changes Made

COLUMBIANA — Several key personnel changes at the Kaiser Chemicals Corporation's local refineries plant were announced today by E. Walter Adams, plant manager.

Coordinately, it was reported that employment at the modern factory, situated at western edge of the town, now totals 175, an increase of 75 per cent over the original planned complement.

Mr. Adams announced that Clarence Rick of 320 West Park Ave., who has been production superintendent since the plant opened in 1956, is being transferred back to California to serve on special pro-

Gunman Gets $40,000 In Niles Holdup

NILES, Ohio (AP)—A gunman robbed a woman bank teller and her police escort of an estimated $40,000 today.

The teller, Miss Judy Whitney, 21, and Patrolman Anthony Marsico had just left the Niles bank when the gunman appeared and forced them into Marsico's cruiser. Miss Whitney was transferring the money from the Niles bank to the McKinley Federal Savings and Loan Co., where she is employed.

The policeman was forced to drive the cruiser to Stevens Park, where he and Miss Whitney were blindfolded and forced out.

The gunman escaped, apparently in another car waiting at the Park.

After the bandit fled, Marsico and Miss Whitney removed their blindfolds and the patrolman found his police radio had been damaged by the gunman, delaying an immediate alarm for the robber.

He telephoned police headquarters.

Tots Escape Death As Car Falls Into River

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two small children barely escaped a watery grave Wednesday when their father's car rolled into the Scioto River near the Columbus Zoo.

The children, Millard Shannon, 3, and his brother, George, 1 1/2, were rescued by their uncle, Henry T. Shannon, who pulled them from the auto just before it was completely submerged.

According to police, Harry W. Shannon and his wife, Nancy, had left their children in the car while they went fishing.

Apparently Millard pulled the gearshift lever into neutral position, and the car rolled into the river.

Workmen's Bill Approved 126-1 By Ohio House

Modified Measure's Passage Defeat for Labor-Minded Bloc

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The big labor-minded bloc in the Democratic-dominated Ohio House has suffered a crushing defeat under the combined pressure of a Democratic governor and a strong Republican minority.

After three days of bickering and three hours of debate, the House Wednesday night passed 126-1 a much-modified bill to liberalize workmen's compensation along lines suggested by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and minority Republicans.

The final vote was no real indication of the bitterness of the big fight, but the Ohio AFL-CIO blasted:

"They took the nose of the injured worker and rubbed it in the dirt."

Senate Marked Time

Across the Statehouse in the Senate, the upper house marked time for 10 hours as majority leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) vainly tried to muster enough votes to pass the Senate version of a school foundation law revision.

The Senate, after King became ill in mid-evening, finally met, transacted only routine business and adjourned slightly before midnight without acting on any part of its 18-bill floor calendar, including the big school bill.

Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning), who took over for the ailing leader, told newsmen he is not serious; that he became nauseous, probably due to the emotional tension resulting from a long and fruitless school bill caucus.

Unless minds change overnight, the Senate today is expected to adopt a series of amendments to restore the school bill to the form in which it emerged from the

Harlem Police Buildup On As Tension Rises

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has moved quickly to beef up the police force in Harlem and warned against potential race riots there.

He said such a riot could be more destructive to community relations than an atomic bomb. Kennedy also moved in reinforcements to other areas of the city populated mostly by Negroes.

The police commissioner said in an inter2p.g/wednesday that increased tensions among New York's big Negro populace has resulted from things over which the police have no control—housing, schools, and other economic and social factors.

"Tensions, because of these conditions, build up and the police are made the scapegoats," he said. Eighty-eight extra policemen moved into Harlem, and an undisclosed number into the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, South Jamaica in Queens, and the east Bronx.

The action followed a near riot

Limited Rights Bill Is Approved

Squeaks Through Senate Group 4-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — A first, short step toward getting a civil rights bill before the Senate brought expressions today of guarded, but contrary, hopes from opposing sides.

Southern opponents emphasized they would continue their fight to block a bob-tailed measure that squeaked through a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday by a 4-3 vote.

"It could be amended into something more drastic," cautioned Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC).

Advocates of a stronger bill saw in the subcommittee's action a possibility that the logjam may be breaking.

Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) called the bill only a skeleton, but said some meat may be put on it when it goes before the full Judiciary Committee. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) said he hoped the Senate would go "a great deal further."

The bill approved by the subcommittee has only two sections.

One would require state and local officials to keep voter registration records for three years, and ballots for 18 months, and to make them available to the U.S. attorney general for inspection upon demand.

The other would extend from Sept. 9 of this year until Jan. 31, 1961, the life of the Civil Rights Commission — created two years ago primarily to investigate complaints of discriminatory denial of voting rights.

The subcommittee's action shifted the immediate battle arena to the full Judiciary Committee, presided over by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), a determined foe of civil rights legislation.

Doctor to Undergo 92nd Operation for Radiation Burns

CHICAGO (AP)—He lies there, a wreck of a man after 64 years of pain and 91 operations, one of the first victims of radiation.

He speaks from only half a mouth, and his words were sometimes bitter. The operations also have claimed his left hand, most of his nose, his upper lips and parts of his cheek and jaw.

He asks, "Why should I, an innocent individual, have to suffer like this? For 64 years I have known pain."

The white-haired man is Dr. Emil H. Grube, 84, credited by medical science with being the first to apply radiation in an attempt to cure cancer.

Friday, he is scheduled to undergo his 92nd operation for radiation burns and cancer resulting from some of his experiments. Doctors say they probably will have to remove two fingers from his right hand.

Dr. Grube gave a rare news conference Wednesday in Swedish Covenant Hospital.

"I was the first one burned by radiation," he said. He told of how in 1895, as a physicist, he worked on the manufacture of plutonium vacuum tubes called Crookes tubes, used to rarify gases.

Many times he touched the tubes or brought them near his face, not knowing of the danger. An irritation appeared on his hand, but he didn't know what it was.

Then on Nov. 8, 1895 the discovery of X-rays was announced by Wilhelm Roentgen.

"I knew then I had been burned by X-rays," Dr. Grube said.

"They were produced in the Crookes tubes. From that day on I protected myself from the rays. But it was too late."

Six months later he had his first operation for radiation burns.

In the meantime, Dr. Grube, on Jan. 26, 1896, began treating a woman afflicted with breast cancer by exposing her to X-rays. The pain left her shortly. Since then he has instructed more than 7,000 doctors in radiology techniques.

Edward Creagh, AP Writer, Dies at 41

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward F. Creagh, 41, special assignment writer in the Associated Press Washington bureau, died today at Hadley Memorial Hospital.

He had been taken to the hospital last week in critical condition from a liver ailment.

Creagh had worked in the AP's Philadelphia, New York and London bureaus before coming to Washington after World War II.

Creagh was a versatile writer who had a notable light touch with feature stories. He also was well equipped to handle serious news stories with skill and perception.

One of his last major assignments was a series of articles on the career of John Foster Dulles. It was distributed to Associated Press members after the secretary of state's death on May 24.

Creagh was born in Nicholson, Pa.

He is survived by his widow, the former Nelda Elizabeth Randall of Olean, N.Y., and two children, David, 7, and Elizabeth, 4.

WORKERS REJECT I.U.E.

CLEVELAND (AP) — White collar workers of the Reliance Electric and Engineering Co. Wednesday rejected the International Union of Electrical Workers as their bargaining agent in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board. The vote was 98 for the union and 324 against.

The I.U.E. petitioned for the election, seeking to represent 450 office, clerical and technical employees at the firm's plants in Cleveland, Euclid and Ashtabula. The union represents some 1,000 production workers at the three plants.

MISS CLEVELAND NAMED CLEVELAND (AP) — The new Miss Cleveland is Diane Torgler, 21, of suburban South, Euclid, a tall, blonde school teacher. She won the title Wednesday night and now goes to the Miss Ohio competition in Mansfield, Aug. 5-6, with the winner there seeking the Miss America title in Atlantic City.

Miss Torgler is 5 feet, 7 1/2 inches with these other vital statistics: 37-25-38.

Camp Dennison Headquarters
Maj. Gen. Jacob D. Cox

When President Lincoln issued his call for 75,000 troops following the fall of Ft. Sumter on Monday, April 15, 1861, the Ohio Legislature immediately appropriated $1,000,000 to arm and equip 10,000 troops from this State. The Council of Cincinnati voted $200,000 to aid in equipping the troops. That was when the common prediction was that "the war would be over in 90 days."

Camp Harrison was established at the Cincinnati Trotting Park, six miles north of Cincinnati, as a camp of instruction. Then Camp Dennison, named for Ohio's Governor William Dennison, was established 16 miles out on the Little Miami R.R. and became the "great rendezvous for Ohio in the Civil War." The stone house of Christian Waldschmidt, built in 1804, served as headquarters at Camp Dennison and it stands today as a historical attraction.

During the four years of the War, Ohio soldiers were recruited and trained at camps in all parts of the State. The list includes: Camp Colerain, Camp Dennison, Camp Dick Corwine, Camp Harrison and Camp John McLean near Cincinnati; Camp Chase and Camp Jackson at Columbus; Camp Circleville at Circleville; Camp Portsmouth and Camp Morrow at Portsmouth; Camp Steubenville at Steubenville; Camp Hutchins in Trumbull County; Camp Cleveland, Camp Taylor and Camp Wood at Cleveland;

Camp Buckingham, Camp Mansfield and Camp Mordecai Bartley at Mansfield; the Fairgrounds at Springfield; Camp Noble at Tiffin; Camp Leas in Clermont County; Camp Meigs at Dover; Camp Ammen at Ripley; Camp Logan at Chillicothe; Camp Latona at Napoleon.

Camp McArthur at Urbana; Camp Goddard and Camp Zanesville at Zanesville; Camp Vance at Findlay; Camp Andrews at Mt. Vernon; Camp Giddings in Ashtabula County; Camp Piqua at Piqua; Camp Delaware at Delaware; Camp Mingo in Jefferson County; Camp Lima at Lima; Camp Monroeville at Monroeville; Camp Corwin at Dayton; Camp Putnam and Camp McClellan at Marietta; Camp Tiffin at Wooster; the Fairgrounds at Lancaster and Camp Wool at Athens.

Altogether, Ohio furnished some 340,000 men of all arms of the service in the Civil War.

Ohio Senator, Jacob D. Cox of Warren, was appointed the first Brig. General of Ohio militia in federal service. It was Gen. Cox who brought Capt. George B. McClellan, vice president of the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad with offices in Cincinnati, into the War. Gov. Dennison appointed McClellan Maj. General to head Ohio forces.

Gen. Cox was the first Ohio Governor elected following the close of the Civil War.

Excellent Picture Of Sunspot Taken By Aerial Camera

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — An astronomer who focused his sun-shooting camera by television more than 15 miles away proudly proclaimed Wednesday night he got the best picture ever taken of a sunspot.

Dr. Martin Schwarzschild of Princeton University displayed a well-defined photograph of a sunspot 25,000 miles in diameter.

The picture was one of 8,000 taken by an automatic camera carried more than 80,000 feet into the air by a plastic balloon last Saturday. The telescopic camera was focused by remote control, using an air-to-ground television system to let ground crews see what the camera's eye saw.

Dr. Schwarzschild said the pictures gave scientists a new idea of the effects of the great magnetic fields surrounding sunspots, of solar explosions.

He said temperature variations within the strong magnetic field were not as great as previously thought. The variations are between the hot gasses pouring away from the sun and the cooler gasses falling back into it.

Nation's Production Hits Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production boomed to a record high in June.

The Federal Reserve Board reported the total output from mines, mills and factories was 155 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This was 2 points above the revised figure for May.

The recession low was 126 in April 1958, the prerecession high was 146 in February 1957.

Retail sales remained at a record high, 3 per cent higher in the second quarter of the year than in the first quarter and 10 per cent above a year earlier.

The board's monthly report said the output of autos, household durable goods and most types of business equipment continued to expand.

Steel production dropped to 90 per cent of capacity—3 points below the May rate—as operations were affected by the approaching end of the steelworkers' contract. Most of the industry is now being struck by the United Steelworkers.

It costs the U.S. some 20 billion dollars a year to fight the crime cartel. Directing that fight is U.S. Attorney General William Rogers, advocate for all the people. Mr. Rogers was asked how the people are doing in the fight against the "second government." Here is his reply — Victor Riesel.

By ATTY. GEN. W. P. ROGERS

The invitation to pinch-hit for Victor Riesel as a guest columnist while he is traveling to Africa affords me a welcome opportunity to write about a major program of the Department of Justice and to set forth some basic facts concerning it. I refer to the drive against organized crime and racketeering.

First, it should be borne in mind that the Department of Justice is a law enforcement agency. Its function is to administer the laws enacted by the national legislature. Its obligation is to so administer those laws as to assure equal justice to all. While it has the responsibility of guarding the rights of the federal government, it must exercise that responsibility from the premise that the rights of the government and the rights of citizens are inseparable.

That is why the inscription "When Justice Is Done its Citizens Win Its Point" is carved on the lintels in the anteroom to my office.

SO THEN, the war on racketeering and related activities currently being waged is directed at protecting the government and the citizens of the United States from the growing menace of syndicated crime.

The seriousness of the threat to the basic fabric of our society which organized crime represents today can hardly be overemphasized.

It should also be borne in mind, and cannot be too often emphasized, that the Department of Justice administers only federal law. Organized crime operates in many respects on a nationwide scale, but 90 per cent or thereabouts of the crimes committed annually in the United States violate only state laws which the Justice Department has no authority to enforce.

Accordingly, the states share with the federal government in large measure the responsibility for stamping out crime and racketeering that preys upon the honest citizen.

The racketeers are both bold and cunning and their activities constitute a challenge to law enforcement. In cooperation with other government agencies concerned with law enforcement, the Department of Justice is meeting that challenge with all the resources at its command.

Puissant legal weapons already on the statute books have been used effectively. Two of them are the Hobs Act, dealing with interstate extortion by violence or threat of violence and the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act relating to bribery by management of labor union representatives.

DURING THE SIX YEARS preceding 1953 (the Hobs Act was enacted into law in 1946) there were only three convictions under these statutes. From January 1953 to March 1959, approximately six years, there were 134 convictions.

Among those convicted were Evan Dale, a Hod Carrier Union official, who got 15 years and a $10,000 fine for attempting to extort more than a million dollars from a firm engaged in constructing an electric power plant at Jopka, Ill., for the Atomic Energy Commission. Phillip Masiello and Francis L. Stickle, Teamster Union officials, were sentenced to five years each upon conviction of conspiring to extort $64,000 from milk haulers in the Albany, N.Y., AREA.

Many gamblers and underworld figures have been convicted during the past six years under the internal revenue laws. Frank Erickson, reputedly one of the largest bookmakers in the country, was convicted in New York in 1953 and given a six-months sentence and Frank Costello, nationally known gambling figure, drew a five-year sentence upon conviction in 1954.

L. B. (Benny) Binion, operator of extensive gambling ventures in Texas, was another who received a five-year sentence for tax evasion.

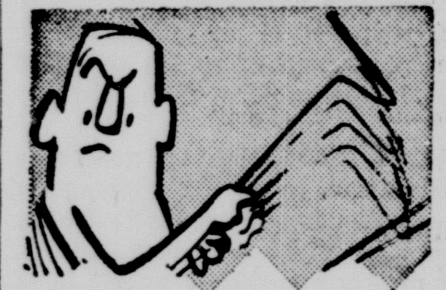

Frank Livorsi got 15 years in 1955 for failure to pay taxes on income derived from the sugar black market and Sidney Brodson, Milwaukee gambler, who was prominent in the basketball scandals a few years ago, was convicted in 1958 in a tax case and sentenced to 2½ years.

Umberto (Albert) Anastasio, New Jersey racketeer and reputed executioner for Murder, Inc., was another who fell afoul of the tax laws and drew a one-year sentence.

BECAUSE of the seriousness of crime's threat to our national welfare, the Department of Justice began planning nearly two years ago to intensify its efforts to bring to book the leaders of organized crime and racketeering.

More than a year ago a Special Group on Organized Crime was created. This unit sharpened legal weapons to be used in the campaign, worked closely with investigative agencies of the government and prepared a number of important cases.

Upon successful completion of its assignment in April, this group was integrated into anti-racketeering units established in key United States attorneys' offices. In addition, other special anti racketeering units have been organized in United States attorneys' offices throughout the country so that the department is now in position to carry on a closely coordinated, nationwide and continuing campaign against the illegal activities of syndicated vice and crime. The gangsters and racketeers unfortunately have been able to infiltrate and in some cases dominate legitimate businesses and labor organizations. They take a heavy toll from commerce and bring disrepute upon worthy labor unions and their officials.

THE INTRUSION of racketeers into legitimate channels of business and labor has enabled the Justice Department to burnish a legal weapon witherto not widely used in this field.

I refer to antitrust laws. Congress has exempted labor unions from the antitrust laws where purely labor union activities are concerned. It is the view of the Justice Department, however, that the exemption does not extend to conspiracies in restraint of trade or to illegal monopolies forbidden by the Sherman Act.

Consequently, prosecutions have been brought and more will be instituted, against groups and individuals indicated by competent evidence to have participated in activities forbidden by the antitrust statutes. Unfortunately, a misconception has arisen in some quarters that this is a campaign against labor. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Some labor organizations and officials may be involved in current and future prosecutions but these are no more directed at labor than at management where both are parties to criminal acts.

It is the responsibility of the Department of Justice to ferret out crime and prosecute it wherever found.

Its actions in the field of racketeering have been and will be taken in a conscientious effort to exercise that responsibility. That effort will continue vigorously and unrelentingly. Only criminals need to be afraid of it.

Atlas Missile Fails To Get Off Ground

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A powerful engine of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile ignited early today but the trouble-plagued rocket failed to get off the ground.

The Atlas remained locked on its pad engulfed in billows of black smoke.

When the countdown reached zero a flash of orange flame burst from the base of the 85-foot missile. It died quickly.

The last five Atlases were failures; four of them exploded shortly after launching.

NOT A DRY SPOT LEFT

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —There's hardly a dry spot in town. Almost 8 inches of rain have fallen since Tuesday, leaving this resort city on the water almost covered by it.

The record rainfall has left water shin deep in the streets.

The Answer to Local Flood Problems

Practically every time there's a rainstorm, like Sunday night's downpour, new complaints of flood water damage filter in from all sections of the city.

Salem's sewer system just can't take it. The storm water sewers have been extended to some extent but not to the degree that they can cope with the fast-expanding residential allotments about the city.

But, there's a ray of hope amid all the dismay.

Much of the trouble can be corrected, City Council points out, if the voters at next November's election put their stamp of approval on a $350,000 bond issue for new storm water sewers.

Extensions of the main trunk lines would be made in various directions, catching the flow of water which presently follows whatever path it can find over ground. Damage, naturally, results. The severe water runoff from the new high school also will be corrected.

Complainants shouldn't be objecting too loudly, though. If they will remember, voters rejected a similar storm water sewer bond issue a year ago. However, Council feels the bond issue is of paramount importance and is resubmitting it for a vote on Nov. 3. It should receive the public's overwhelming support so that the drainage problems can be corrected.

Steelworkers Chose to Strike

The worst thing that could have happened in this year's steel industry negotiations would have been an easy agreement to raise wages, other production costs and the price of steel.

That would have been the easy way out. It would have kept the steel industry in production at the risk of the inflationary spurt that would have followed another substantial boost in steel prices.

Steelworkers insisted that no price increase would have been necessary to offset a wage increase. The union argued that inflation was not a factor to be considered, therefore.

But by using this argument, the union tacitly admitted that a price increase was not desirable; that a price increase would have contributed to inflation if it had been the result of a wage increase.

Management agreed that a price increase was undesirable but insisted that a wage increase would make a price increase imperative, unless the Steelworkers gave management more leeway in local production restrictions. This the Steelworkers refused to do—and that was where the negotiations deadlocked and collapsed.

THE MAIN FACT as the strike begins is the size of the steel inventory and the estimates of how long it will be until serious shortages of supply develop.

When that happens—if there is a long strike—there will be tremendous public pressure for settlement.

Until that kind of pressure develops, the strike problem will be restricted to the industry's workers, to its managers, its share owners and the communities which depend on their jobs for income. It will be serious. But it has happened so often that it now is viewed as part of the process of industry-wide bargaining.

This time it is no secret that the major steel companies believe they are in a good position to withstand the union's ultimate economic pressure—the big strike and an acute shortage of steel.

Other times it has been no secret that the union thought it had the upper hand.

It is not easy to be philosophical about work stoppages of such magnitude, with the personal hardship and loss of production and wealth that go with a major strike. But the fact is that the strike is part of collective bargaining and that without the possibility of a strike there could be no genuine bargaining.

THE PROBLEM that immediately becomes fore most is how to maintain discipline and order in the face of excitement.

In recent years there has been great improvement in this respect. The wild riots and disorders that one featured strikes have been tamed down by the growing sense of responsibility that is one of the finest things about America's "people's capitalism."

The issue today, unlike the issue in the remote past, is not whether workers have a right to strike but whether they can get what they want by striking.

The steel strike is only partly against employers. It also is against everybody who believes wage and price stability at this time are more to be desired than another round of inflation.

A Rabbit Pops Into a Hat

While Frol Kozlov and his traveling companions were seeing how Americans make automobiles, airplanes, gadgets and gidgets, something of much greater importance was happening in New York City.

An official of the Soviet Union was able to announce at the end of last week that 250 U.S. businessmen had attended a meeting to discuss Russian trade expansion. Mikhail R. Kuzmin was able to announce further that he had talked with the U.S. secretary of the Treasury and an assistant secretary of commerce about trade.

This was the obvious purpose of the Russian exhibition at the New York Coliseum, which Deputy Premier Kozlov came to this country to open officially.

It could not have been too far from the reason for President Eisenhower's decision to fly from Washington to New York to be present at the opening of the exhibition. Later this month, as the President explained, Vice President Nixon is going to Moscow to open the U.S. exhibition there, and he wanted the Russians to be as conversant of Mr. Nixon as he had been of Mr. Kozlov.

True, this is the age of political man. But men do not live either by bread or politics alone. They live by adaptation to their environment that makes living seem desirable as well as possible. That is one thing as common to people's capitalism in America as to a political aristocracy's socialism in Russia.

While public officials go through the mummery of politics, striving for a summit understanding, businessmen could be reaching an understanding that would make summit understandings in politics as unnecessary as they now seem to be unlikely.

Talking Things Over

Firemen want a shorter work week. The police want a pay raise and various fringe benefits. The city's funds are limited so the police and fire departments' demands present a real headache for City Council, which is expected to have a ready answer for every problem, whether it's within the scope of their authority or not.

Most important, though, in this case is the fact that Council is meeting with representatives of both the police and fire departments to talk things over. Sitting down for a discussion usually results in a mutual understanding and a higher respect for each other.

Once Over

"President Eisenhower is for a bedtime story that will arouse children to the danger of a mortgaged future due to thriftlessness, unbalanced budgets and the idea Uncle Sam will take care of everything."—News item.) Very well, here goes:

Once upon a time there was a little boy who lived in Fantasia, sometimes called America. It seemed to drip happiness and easy money.

He lived in a thick woods called Applesauce Forest, full of artificial trees planted by folks who said the fruit supplied the answer to all problems.

In the forest lived a curious creature called Bunko Balonus.

Three good fairies, Thrift, Truth and Horse-sense often came to the woods to see the little boy, but Bunko always swept in yelling, "Scram," driving them off buckety-buckety.

"Why do you chase them away?" the boy asked. "Grandpa says they are my best friends."

"Grandpa is an old fogey," said Bunko. The boy asked Bunko why they called him that name. "It's become a term of endearment from people who believe anything. You let Bunko take care of your future, my boy," said Bunko watering an applesauce tree from an empty bucket.

"What's my future?" the boy asked. "Don't ask for details. Just swallow what I tell you. Shake an applesauce tree and get the staff of life, six new vitamins, a hot rod and all the walnuts off the nutcake."

LATER, FELIX THE SQUIRREL came along. "I suppose he gave you his regular arithmetic lesson. One billion minus two billion leaves for billion. If you have 20 cents in your bank and put in 10 cents more you have only 2 cents and are crippling the economy," laughed the squirrel.

One day there came a great blizzard. It messed everything up.

Bunko crawled in sick and battered. The little boy saw that only Felix the squirrel was in good shape. "How come?" he asked. "Oh I never let anybody convince me I could live on applesauce from outside trees instead of food carefully gathered and stored inside," Felix replied laughing.

"Pay no attention to him," snapped Bunko. "He's a reactionary." Whereupon Bunko slunk away. He was too weak even to write about his economic theories at space rates.

VEEP NION is for a third baseball league, including Mexico City, Montreal and Havana clubs. It will give baseball an international flavor, and we can probably get umpires from U.N. and NATO.

Kozlov had his American food tested by Geiger counters. He took no chance on getting his smile poisoned.

Castro cabinet has voted to appropriate 200 million dollars, to attract tourist trade. Fidel is after those people who want to go somewhere for a nervous breakdown and have it guaranteed.

Things are getting so native Americans visiting their big cities take along a Russian language book.

New York Justice Charles J. Conway must be surprised to see "Lady Chatterley's Lover" as plugging movie through out-of-context quotation, "This film unquestionably presents adultery as a proper pattern of behavior and it employs several scenes of obscenity."

West Side Tennis Club can't alibi the rejection of Ralph Bunche's son with, "That's the way the ball bounces."

IF YOU ARE descended from long-lived parents and grandparents your chances for longevity are that much improved.

In his book, "Length of Life," Dr. Louis L. Dublin shows that persons with long-lived ancestors have a 50 per cent better chance of reaching advanced years. Dr. Dublin formerly was statistician for a life insurance company, from which many of these figures are obtained.

Within the past century more than 27 years have been added to life expectancy. White males have made that gain in length of life while white females have increased 30 years. As a matter of fact the length of life of the average male has been increasing at the rate of four-tenths of one year for every year which has passed since 1910, while women have been going ahead five-tenths of a year.

Ten years of age is the healthiest in life, mortality falling to the lowest rate at that time. This healthy situation remains fairly constant through the early teen years. Youngsters in those years also are least prone to accident, being alert enough to react quickly and not yet old enough to become reckless.

It is this feeling of immunity which sometimes causes them to get into trouble—especially with motor vehicles—a few years later.

MARITAL STATUS has much to do with longevity. Among single males 20 years of age or more, the death rate is 1½ times that of married men at the same ages.

For widowers the rate is 1½ times more, while for divorced men the death rate is double. The death rates for the widowed and divorced for both sexes are consistently higher throughout life.

Farmers have the lowest death rates. Professional people are next lowest. College graduates live longer than average, with honor men having far greater life spans than athletes. Clergymen are among the longest lived of the professionals, with the exception of the Roman Catholic clergy, who have a mortality 5 per cent above average.

The healthiest areas in the nation are the northern states, notably Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

Herter Not Optimistic

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christian A. Herter—for a secretary of state—is a very frank man. His feelings as he returns to Geneva for talks with the Soviets, he says, might be unfit to print.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who prides himself on being brutally blunt, never outdid that one.

Twice at his news conference Thursday—his first since becoming secretary of state—Herter tried to say he was pessimistic about success in the American-Soviet talks which resume Monday at Geneva.

He didn't actually say he was pessimistic. He just said he wasn't optimistic. Just a short time ago at Geneva he finished six weeks of talks with the Soviets and got nowhere. This next go-round may last weeks, too.

Then one of the 190 newsmen—who crowded into the State Department auditorium to see him perform where his predecessor, John Foster Dulles, had held forth so often—asked him near the end of the 40-minute conference:

"Mr. Secretary, if you could use only one word to describe your feelings as you head back toward Geneva, what would that one word be?"

Herter grinned. Twice he had used lack of optimism as a euphemism for pessimism. He seemed to search his mind an instant for that one word to describe his feelings. Then he said: "It might be unprintable."

That was a directness alien to the mind of Dulles, who died May 24.

The late secretary, a highly successful lawyer, talked like one. He used his great legalistic skill in getting across American viewpoints, stating policy positions and floating trial balloons. He handled his news conference like a stage manager.

But his sentences and his ideas—and this was the lawyer working—were interwoven with qualifications and implications that sometimes had to be dug out like shrapnel from under the skin.

He was a master at leaving the back door open in case he had to retreat.

Yet, unlike the rambling, disconnected, broken sentences and unfinished thoughts of President Eisenhower at a news conference, Dulles' sentences were always, despite twists and turns, grammatically sound and flowing.

So is the sentence structure of Herter, a "prover Bostonian" from Harvard. But Herter is easier to follow. His sentences are shorter, more direct. He has a simplicity Dulles lacked.

Dulles ran the State Department out of his hat. Often he gave an impression of arrogance. Herter, who depends on teamwork, seems a less complicated man of good nature and good will.

He was relaxed Thursday, although crippled by arthritis. He smiled easily, was unpretentious, and it was clear he had done his homework in the three years he has been in the State Department.

The 64-year-old Herter was named under secretary late in 1956. He didn't become secretary until April 22. In between those dates he was completely overshadowed by Dulles and probably thoroughly ignored.

So he had time to learn his job. It showed Thursday when he knew detailed background of American problems in Europe and Asia. Nevertheless, it was a pretty drab news conference.

Herter for the most part—and particularly about his lack of optimism on Geneva—simply was restating what he had said or implied before.

His ease in handling the newsmen is no guarantee he will be a good secretary of state. The proof and the test lie before him: He has 18 months in the job before the Eisenhower administration ends.

So far he has shown very little sign of forcefulness. But that proves nothing—yet. He's not the type anyway to come in with a roar. He has a choice: Follow Dulles' policy or try to break new ground.

Dulles' policy was frozen and in many ways unimaginative. He just followed the Truman-Acheson policy of stiff-arming the Soviets on all fronts. That worked all right so long as the Soviet Union was comparatively weak.

It isn't now. American policy may have to prove far more flexible to meet the changing times, new situations, and increasing beligerence of the Soviets. Herter hasn't had time yet to show himself or prove himself.

Coy Politicians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Presidential Prospects Play Waiting Game

Now that Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has "informally" announced his candidacy for the presidential nomination on the Democratic party ticket, it may well be asked: Why are the other prospective candidates so hesitant and coy about doing the same thing?

The Minnesota senator is among the first to throw his hat in the ring. But he is more or less compelled to do so now, because he is up for re-election next year as United States senator and, if he doesn't make the grade for the presidential nomination, he will doubtless want time to arrange to run again for the Senate.

Strictly speaking, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas and former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois have not announced—formally or informally—that they will be candidates for the nomination, but in the public-opinion polls these names are frequently mentioned.

In addition, there are a number of "favorite sons," like Gov. Pat Brown of California and Sen. George Smathers of Florida, who will have the endorsements of their particular state delegations.

On the Republican side, where only two names are being mentioned, Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York have not announced their respective candidacies. There seems to be a basic strategy in politics never to announce too soon. The argument usually made for this approach is that the front runner get bombarded from all sides and that, if a candidacy is launched early, it subjects the would-be nominee to attack by all the other factions in a given state.

For not all states have presidential-preference primaries and hence the selection of delegates is more or less controlled by the state and local organizations of the party.

THE PROBLEM of getting a nomination is not the same as the campaign to win an election after nomination. In the latter case, it is merely a matter of wooing large numbers of voters. In the pre-convention campaign, it's a question largely of lining up the individual political leaders who pick the delegates.

This kind of campaign is more or less invisible and, while popular sentiment enters into it somewhat, the local leaders are always anxious to put themselves into a position of power with a potential winner even though he is not out front early in the race. Local rivalries often cause politicians to line up for or against a candidate irrespective of his actual merits because of the political advantages that may come from defeating a local leader.

Vice President Nixon is well advised to bid his time before asserting himself as an active candidate. To emerge now with a lot of delegations in his pocket would give an opportunity for someone else to raise a cry of unfair advantage and it could precipitate the very fight that would help an opponent to gain ground on the theory that the "party bosses" were dictating the selection.

As for Gov. Rockefeller, he, too, is playing the game cautiously in refusing to announce his candidacy at this early stage.

If there is a division in the sentiment of the party, he can await the opportune moment for crystallizing the opposition. If, on the other hand the party seems bent on nominating Mr. Nixon, Gov. Rockefeller can tactfully cement relations with the party-organization men for future campaigns by joining the "bandwagon" at the appropriate time.

Realism in politics makes it necessary always to be cautious. Issues change and events arise that change the issues. A man who is popular today may not be strong, politically speaking, a year hence. It is, after all, at least 12 months before the national conventions will be held. A much more critical period will be reached in March or April of next year.

THE JOCKEYING for position which will occur between now and next spring will not be less important because it will go on mostly behind the scenes.

Some of the "favorite son" delegations in different states are really "stalking horses" for particular candidates who are nationally known. The leader of such a state delegation often exacts his price. It may be an ambassadorial appointment for a friend or a Cabinet post or some other form of political preferment.

Sometimes a delegation's leader makes two or three pledges in advance—to give support to one candidate up to a certain ballot at the national convention and then to switch to another candidate. This is regarded as practical politics—nobody wants to wait too long before getting on a "bandwagon."

As the late Sen. Claude Swanson, (D-Va.), once prescribed in his rules of political behavior: "Never wait till the train leaves the station before climbing aboard."

The maneuvers of today indicate that the Democrats have several possible candidates and that, notwithstanding what each of them says now—it isn't always modesty but sometimes it's good political sense—a denial of an intention to be a candidate doesn't mean a thing 12 months before convention time.

One thing is a sure bet if Congress ever turns the investigative heat on the Post Office Department, to learn what people are saying about postal service: There would be no lack of witnesses willing to testify that the mail still gets through, though it sometimes takes patience to wait for it.

Why doesn't anyone synthesize a shade of green as deep and rich as the green of field corn in the early morning before the dew has evaporated?

I take no stock in resolutions that purport to reflect the views of more than two persons and only a limited amount of stock in two-person resolutions. Even the U.S. Supreme Court, which is interpreting a written constitution, cannot agree on anything with only nine members.

A national psychiatrist—and we could use one—would say that we love Queen Elizabeth in America because we are ready for a woman president and Britain's attractive queen has become a symbol of our aspirations.

If anyone sniffs and asks me what's cooking, I try to give an honest answer. The biggest thing cooking that I know about is the forthcoming realization that big business and big labor have been working cheek by jowl in a tacit agreement to make certain that prices and wages will keep going higher and higher at the expense of savers and people who never learned how to hook on to the inflationary balloon.

The skit on the Jack Parr TV show in which a newspaper is reviewed by a show biz critic in the same style that newspapers review a show was well conceived, well executed and well received. With few exceptions, such as articles that have appeared occasionally in The New Yorker, newspapers never have been criticized professionally, only by their own readers.

It is instructive and a little frightening to tick off the irreconcilable conflicts now raging: Between Spendocrats and Balancers, Hoffalities and the Kenedyphiles, the West and the East, segregationists and integrationists, Communist and Capitalists, absolutists and relativists, spenders and savers, big-car owners and little-car owners etc.

Although the charcoal grill will not replace either the gas or the electric stove, because speed is of the essence in preparing a meal, there can be no doubt that the slowness of charcoal cooking is the secret of the tasty result.

As far as I am concerned, the title of the book that has been getting the three million dollars' worth of free publicity might as well be "Lady Loverly's Chatter."

Tends Ponies, Goats, Calf

Damascus Boy Has Man-Sized Hobby -- Raising Livestock

Jack Bircher, who resides at the western edge of Damascus on Rt. 62, has become a gentleman farmer — complete with barn and livestock — at the tender age of 12. The boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Glenn Bircher, has in his care 13 ponies, 70 chickens, eight goats, two dogs, a calf and a parakeet. Although tending such a varied assortment of animals and fowl entails much time and work, the boy does his own chores. "In the winter I get up at about 6:30 and feed the animals and gather the eggs," he says, "but in the summer I get lazy and sleep in until about 7:30."

HE REQUIRES HELP from his father only in getting hay into the barn and cleaning out the stables. Jack first became interested in animals about five years ago when his father gave him a pony colt, "Bootsie." Soon afterward, Jack began raising goats which he buys with money he earns doing odd jobs at the Canfield Livestock Auction which his father operates.

The boy breeds the goats and sells the kids. One of his goats gave birth to twins about a week ago. Early this spring Jack brought home from the Canfield auction a motherless calf which he plans to fatten and sell.

Jack's venture into the poultry business began last Christmas when his parents gave him 10 chickens. He soon purchased 10 others, and the flock was swollen by an additional 50 given to him and his brother, Tim, 6, by their grandfather, Henry Bircher, a Louisville farmer.

IN THE PAST FEW months Jack and Tim have built up a regular route of customers for their eggs. Jack puts his share of the egg money back into furthering his hobby.

Although Jack has assumed responsibility for the barnyard inhabitants, not all of the animals are his. Twelve of the ponies belong to his father who raises them as a hobby. Jack shares ownership of the dogs with Tim, and of the parakeet with the rest of his family, including his sister, Peggy, 11.

The barn in which the animals are housed is located behind the Bircher home. "Jack's interest in animals, along with that of his father, was such that we had the barn built before we had completed building our home," Mrs. Bir-cher said.

AT THE SAME TIME the Birchers fenced in a large pasture and a section of woods for the animals to roam and graze in.

Despite the demands on his time made by his hobby, Jack, an eighth grader at Knox Local School, indulges other interests. He plays first base on a Hot Stove Baseball League team, swims a lot, and, in the winter, traps muskrats.

Jack hopes some day to follow in the footsteps of his father and time made by his hobby, Jack, grandfather, C. T. Shreve, who operated the Damascus Livestock

Auction, and go into the business of selling farm animals.

Ellsworth

Ellsworth Center Grange at their recent meeting balloted for delegates and alternates to attend the Ohio State Grange convention in Cincinnati in October.

Delegates are Miss Mattie Kutz of Beloit, Ray Beck of Salem and Alva Davis of North Jackson. Alternates are William Fogg and Otis Rhodes of Salem; and Albert Batta of North Jackson.

Mrs. Albert Conrad had a patriotic program with the presentation of the flag and a short history concerning it. Music was provided by four members of the juvenile grange.

THE SUMMER TRAVEL WARDROBE FOR Charlene Hargrove, Queen of the 1959 New York Summer Festival, is one that stresses fabrics that won't wrinkle but will launder easily. She wears (left) a sleeveless dress and jacket in a fine, flat knit orlon. This is the perfect ensemble for summer plane or train travel. Sleeveless jacket dress is in white crepe (center) woven of acetate and nylon. The pleats will keep their sharp, neat look indefinitely. Jacket is blue, bordered in red and accented with gold buttons. Filmy chiffon dancing dress (right) looks fragile but is strong. It's woven of nylon and silk. It's cut with bouffant skirt and pleated, cascading sleeves. These clothes are hardy travelers, planned to pack well and emerge from a suitcase looking fresh and spruce.

Up a steep mud-choked wash—Positraction pays off!

Through a mountain stream—deep in Avintaquin Canyon.

NO MOUNTAIN CAT, MISTER...

That's a Chevy with Positraction!

That 3134 Fleetside has the sure-footed ways of a big western bobcat. Roams through high brush country that would buck the life out of most trucks. Crosses streams without benefit of a bridge. Climbs talus grades where pifion won't even grow. But that's all routine for this Chevy, equipped with Positraction* rear axle. It's hard at it every day for the Utah Fish and Game commission. Figure about 60,000 miles of mountaineering before this Chevy is traded. And yet the district officer who drives it would bet his badge the tie rods won't even need replacing!

Out in that wild, climbing Utah country, Chevy's suspension and frame and brakes, its Positraction rear axle and Thriftmaster 6 power are proving themselves under rougher conditions than most test engineers could dream up. They're proving that Chevrolet's advanced engineering and design ideas pay off—in spades—when the going gets especially mean and dirty.

Positraction, of course, is a big plus on this job, providing the sure grip needed to dig through mud, snow, loose sand, whatever comes along. Could be that a Positraction-equipped 1/2-ton pickup is the answer for your area of operation. Or maybe a 4-wheel drive Chevy. We've got trucks that specialize in getting in and out of any kind of country. Talk to your dealer about your needs. He'll show you what tough trucks are made of.

*Optional at extra cost

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Curbstone Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato: It is sometimes said that the world will never have true peace until a way is found to make peace as exciting as war.

But war, at least as seen by the men who fight it, is only rarely exciting.

For every moment of bright danger the ordinary soldier faces, he undergoes 10,000 moments of boredom. For every hour of action he can remember, he can recall at least one hundred hours of waiting.

Excitement comes to the soldier but spasmodically. War to him is more often endless monotony. War is dust and rain and mud and noise. War is thirst and hunger and heat and cold and dirt and flea bites and loneliness. And always the soldier is bored more often than he is either brave or afraid.

No, war isn't terribly exciting. If wars were fueled only by excitement, they would all burn out in a month.

Perhaps the most awful fact of war is that it makes everybody feel more important than he does in peacetime—important not only to himself but to others. Therein lies war's terrible glamor.

Suddenly everyone is wanted. Suddenly everyone has a job to do. Suddenly everyone is needed and has a place in the national effort.

The bugle blows not for a few but for all. It summons them out of themselves and aims them toward a common goal.

Retired men are called back to their old jobs. Girls and wives go into the factories and earn more money than they have ever seen before. The kids go around town picking up scrap metal. Even dancing is patriotic—if you dance with a boy going away.

There is something for everyone to do. And even if you can't do anything you can help — by doing without something. You can eat less meat, use less gasoline, give up chocolate bars for the duration.

No wonder illness falls off in wartime and the population's general health improves. People have no time to pick their mental sores and worry themselves sick.

Everyone feels a foot taller. Actually, everyone is drunk—in a sense. For no wine or liquor ever bottled is as intoxicating to the human spirit as its embarkation on a crusade, the losing of oneself in the immensity of a common purpose.

War not only affords people a way to find themselves by losing themselves. It brings home to them, as nothing else seems to do, how really dependent men are on each other's help.

This is best seen, of course, on the battlefield itself. In combat the members of a platoon must fight together or they will all surely die or be captured. They forge a loyalty to one another then, and will never quite know again.

START HUMPHREY DRIVE — Gov. Orville Freeman, left, and Lt. Gov. Karl Rovey talk with Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) at St. Paul, Minn., as the Senator was in Washington, D.C. Discussion was about Sen. Humphrey's announcement that he would seek the Democratic Presidential Nomination — with Freeman and McCarthy as co-chairmen of the drive.

But all the rest of their lives they will miss that unit loyalty. That is the true problem of peace — to find a way to make people feel they are just as important to each other, just as needed by each other, when the guns are silent as when they roar.

When mankind realizes it is eternally mutual, the loyalties of peace will make the loyalties of war unnecessary.

Russell Co. Names Two Officers

Columbiana Plans Library Addition

COLUMBIANA — The Board of Education has given its approval to a tentative plan of the Library Board to construct an addition to the present building on S. Elm St.

Board of Education approval is necessary because the library is located on school grounds, and the proposed addition would extend further south onto school property. Harry Heltzel, president of the Library board of trustees, said nothing is definite except the need for more space.

"We very definitely are considering an addition," he said, citing lack of storage room for books and increasing use of the library as reasons behind the proposal.

However, the project is only in the preliminary discussion stage, and nothing final in the way of size of the addition or costs has been arrived at.

THE F. C. RUSSELL CO. manufacturer of windows, doors and allied products in the building and modernization fields, has elected two executives as officers, Frank

C. Russell, president, announced today.

Victor B. Casey has been named executive vice president and general manager. He will be in complete charge of all company operations. Mr. Casey originally joined the company as assistant to the president, and last April was elected vice president. Prior to joining the company, he was vice president and manager of Stanley Building Specialties Western Company, El Monte, Calif.

Stuart Mills has been elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. Mills joined the company in 1950 after serving 20 years as a secretary, treasurer and director of the Johnson and Jennings Co., Cleveland. One year after joining F. C. Russell, Mr. Mills was named assistant treasurer. In 1957 he was elected secretary.

MIDWAY GRANGE will be host to Greely Grange at a regular meeting Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Midway will stage first degree work, and Greely Grange will put on second degree work.

Robert Forney, vice president of the Columbiana Stamp Club, will present a special showing of colored slides at the club meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 22, at the Public Library.

The slides will depict places shown on U.S. postage stamps, such as the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., and Wheatland, home of President Buchanan, in Lancaster, Pa.

Mrs. A. C. Pfund Jr., secretary-treasurer of the club, said anyone interested in seeing the slides is welcome to attend the meeting. A special effort is being made to attract persons interested in stamp collecting who have not yet been to a club meeting.

CHESTER BURBICK, owner and exhibitor of Prince H., 16-year-old walking horse stallion which has won a considerable number of blue ribbons in a two-state area, will retire the steed at special ceremonies Sunday afternoon at the Robertsville Horse Show.

Prince H. won the walking horse class for the last five years at the Robertsville show, and won two other firsts last year despite his advanced age. He has two daughters in training — Miss Fancy, owned by a son, Joe Burbick of Greenford, and White Hi-Fi, stabled with Prince H. The elder Burbick now will be showing Miss Fancy.

Prince H. was sired by Hills Wilson Allen, and was born June 16, 1943 at Blytheville, Ark. He was owned, trained and shown until 1952 by John McMorris, now of Aliquippa, Pa. Burbick has shown him with great success in central Ohio, inter-county, and in western Pennsylvania.

Although in 1941, Hernando de Soto was probably the first white man to see the southern part of the Mississippi River, it was not until 132 years later that Louis Joliet and Father Jacques Marquette crossed northern Illinois and discovered the northern part.

Mr. and Mrs. Twilo J. Sauerwein of the Depot Rd. have received the following address for their son who enlisted in the Navy July 2:

Paul O. Sauerwein, Co. 291, Battalion 14; Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

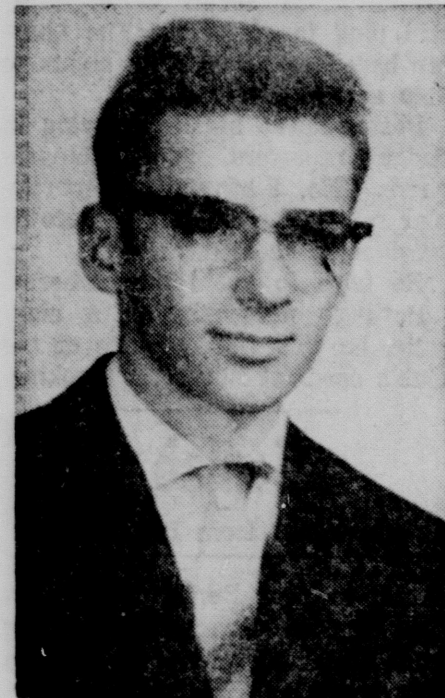

The serviceman graduated from Salem High School in June.

Marine Pvt. Harold E. Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Anders of RD 3, Lisbon, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

The 12-week training schedule included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies, and other military subjects. He will take further training at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Richard H. Zimmer, radioman seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Angeline Zimmer of 750 S. Broadway, is serving at the Naval Station, Argentina, Newfoundland. It is the continental terminus of the Atlantic Airborne Early Warning Barrier.

Deaths and Funerals

William G. Kring

William G. Kring, 50, of 269 N. Howard Ave., died suddenly at his home at about 9:30 a.m. today of a heart seizure.

He became ill while at work and died just as a physician, who had been called, arrived at the house.

Born in Salem Aug. 4, 1908, he was the son of George L. and Ann Walker Kring.

He owned and operated a freight terminal on N. Howard, having previously been associated in the business with his father.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Betty Reese Kring; five daughters, Mrs. Shirley Woodworth of Dam-

House. Much of the opposition to the Senate version comes from medium and small school districts. They complain big and wealthy districts would benefit at their expense under the Senate version.

Problem Is To Cut Fund

The Senate problem is to whack about 8 1/2 million dollars off the House version to bring it within the financial bounds of the budget which already has been passed and is in effect. Disalle has indicated he will not sign a school bill calling for higher spending than that provided by the budget.

Almost unnoticed in the high-pressure legislative day was the fact that all hope for a possible end to working sessions this week slipped down the drain without even a gurgle.

Senate majority leader King held out the hope of a quick wind-up to the session as late as Tuesday night. But legislators still face at least one more week of sessions—perhaps two—depending on the length of the school bill stalemate. They plan, late today, to take a weekend recess.

The House-approved compensation bill would:

Would Hike Benefits
Increase weekly maximum benefits from $40.25 to $49.

Boost death payments from $12,000 to $15,000, plus $1,000 for each of three dependents.

Retain the administrative setup, created in 1955, with a workmen's compensation bureau, administrator and three-member industrial commission.

Advance the pay of commission members and the administrator from $10,000 to $12,000 a year.

Keep virtually intact the present appeal procedure on claims.

Place elected state and local officials under workmen's compensation.

Revise the definition of injury, but retain the present law on silicosis benefits.

Several of the approved provisions were requested by DiSalle, but majority Democrats balked at others.

The governor obtained a reduction in weekly benefits of $4.25, as proposed in the bill when it reached the House floor, but lost his bid for maximum death payments of $15,000.

Administration backers stripped from the bill proposals to substitute a director for the administrator and return to former procedures in handling claims.

Split Majority Democrats
Rep. Jesse Yoder (D-Montgomery) handled administration amendments that split majority Democrats into opposing factions.

Rep. Ralph Rudd (D-Lake) cast the lone dissenting vote against the bill at the climax to the long debate. The showdown came on the third try in as many days to get a floor vote on the much-amended measure.

"I think a great deal was lost with respect to the procedure by retaining the present awkward, wasteful, unfair and expensive procedure," he said.

Yoder insisted changes he proposed were necessary to get the bill passed and sent to the Senate.

"I don't care what the governor has requested; I came here to represent the people," said Rep. Joseph J. Murphy (D-Miami).

Other Democrats chided party leaders for "capitulating" and "surrendering" to Republicans who lined up behind some of the administration proposals.

Failed To Win Approval
Rudd failed to win approval for two amendments. In one he proposed an additional tax on employers of four cents for each $100 of payroll to increase from $25 to $40.25 the compensation for permanently and totally disabled workers now on the rolls. The other sought to shift the state's one-third share of administrative costs to the insurance fund that now bears two-thirds of the cost.

The AFL-CIO council said in a prepared statement that action on the bill sold injured workers down the river. The council asserted DiSalle, party leaders in the House, Republicans, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers Assn. combined to "rip the guts" out of the bill.

"It is pitiful that the governor, who displayed such a strong leadership in asking the workers to pay the lion's share of the increased tax burden, should not show the same type of leadership in winning a decent law for the injured workers of Ohio," the AFL-CIO said.

The House received and passed a bill providing that the newly enacted sales tax on hotel and motel transients would apply only to guests of less than 30 days.

The House also passed Senate approved bills to increase the pay of judges in Ohio $2,000 a year and to make it easier for school districts to consolidate.

Mahoning 4-H Youths Win Talent Awards

Singing, skits and safety talks were presented by Mahoning County 4-H Club members Wednesday as the youths competed in a safety talk contest and Share-the-Fun activity at the Canfield Fairgrounds.

Jane Lonardo, a member of the Boardman Stitch-Eye 4-H Club, won the safety talk contest and will represent the county at the district contest at Leroy, O., next Tuesday. Nine students participated.

Seventy-five youths took part in the 26 acts presented in the Share-the-Fun activity.

The top five acts were: A vocal duet by Phyllis King and Ruthanne Bacon, accompanied by Marsha Seeger, Springfield Cooking Teens 4-H Club; a singing act by Betty Conn, Mary Jane Diehl, Judy Fulcomer, Judy Coulter and Anita Dutch, Canfield Buttercups One 4-H Club.

A skit by Pat Rowe, Jane Lonardo, Barbara Bishop, Carol Sheetz and Diane Herrlich, Boardman Stitch-Eye 4-H Club; a skit by all 19 members of the sujettes 4-H Club, and a guitar duet by Darlene Watson and Nancy Watson, Canfield Rhythm Riders 4-H Club.

Three of these acts will be selected to represent Mahoning County at the district contest at Kent three acts will be selected to go to the State Fair.

three-man fact-finding board. The industry said the facts already are well known.

Basically, the union seeks increased wages and improved fringe benefits, contending the steel industry can afford it. The industry says that to grant the demands would be inflationary; it must hold the line on production costs, also have more leeway in effecting operation economies.

Steelworkers had been averaging $3.10 an hour. Their old three-year contract expired June 30, was extended two weeks until Tuesday midnight at the request of President Eisenhower.

Harlem

Monday night when two white policemen arrested a woman of Puerto Rican and Italian descent in Harlem. When an angry crowd gathered, a pistol carried by one of the policemen accidentally discharged and slightly wounded both policemen.

The snarling crowd, sensitive to rumors of police brutality, didn't disperse until Middleweight Boxing Champion Sugar Ray Robinson, a Negro, asked them to.

The woman, Mrs. Carmella Cavaglione, 2d, later said through her attorney that there had been no brutality.

Kennedy complained that some Harlem politicians had unjustly blamed their troubles on the police. Answering charges that he was creating a "police state," Kennedy said he was trying "to protect law-abiding people there."

Jawn A. Sandifer, chairman of the legal redress committee of the local National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, charged that "the police, more than any other single factor, are responsible for the rising tensions" in Harlem.

However, Thurgood Marshall, general counsel of the NAACP, came to Kennedy's defense.

"While I may be kicked for saying this, they are crucifying that man (Kennedy)," Marshall said. He and Kennedy paid visits Wednesday night to the two wounded policemen.

327 Persons Receive Surplus Food Here

Three hundred and twenty-seven people received surplus food at City Hall Wednesday morning, Robert Bycroft, county welfare director at Lisbon, reported. Four hundred seventy were eligible to receive food.

Tuesday 596 persons were given surplus food at the East Liverpool Central fire station, a total of 836 was certified.

Monday, 320 of the 79 certified received surplus food at Wellsville City Hall.

POLIO CASES INCREASE—Newsmap shows cases of paralytic polio reported for each state in the first 25 weeks of 1959. The top figures represent cases reported this year and the bottom numbers show either an increase or decrease for the same period of 1958. For the first 25 weeks of this year, a total of 862 cases have been reported compared to 650 for 1958. Not shown on the map, but included in the total figures are cases reported in the District of Columbia (none this year, one in 1958), Alaska (0-1), Hawaii (4-23) and Puerto Rico (3-39). Health authorities are urging that polio shots be taken to reverse this trend.

Hitch Develops Ex-Trucker Jailed by Court In Strike of Truck Drivers For Wooing British Heiress

CINCINNATI (AP)—Most of Greater Cincinnati's 1,800 construction truck drivers are supposed to go back to their jobs today after an eight-day strike. But a hitch has developed which may continue to keep many of them in idleness.

The drivers, members of Local 100 of the Teamsters Union, voted 290-256 Wednesday night to accept a new three-year contract.

Approximately 60 to 90 yardmen, employed at ready mix concrete plants, declined to accept the agreement, however. If they continue their strike it will mean drivers of concrete trucks also will be idle.

The yard men were to meet again this morning to discuss the contract.

The contract calls for wage increases totaling 25 cents an hour over the three years. The base pay of the drivers has been $2.50 an hour.

Unaffected by the new contract will be approximately 100 drivers for six major road and sewer building firms. Those employers refused to participate in the contract negotiations, claiming their men are covered by a statewide contract negotiated with the Ohio Council of Teamsters.

The state council and officials of Local 100 long have been at odds.

Otto Frobe, secretary-treasurer of the local, said picketing will be continued on projects of the six contractors until they accept Local 100 jurisdiction.

One firm—the Foley Construction Co.—obtained a temporary injunction in Common Pleas Court Wednesday, to prevent picketing of its projects. A hearing will be held later on whether the injunction should be made permanent.

The strike of the truck drivers has sharply curtailed work on many construction projects in Hamilton County and in northern Kentucky.

Under terms of the new contract, the drivers will get a 10-cent-an-hour pay increase this year, 10 cents next year and 5 cents the third year. They originally sought a total of 45 cents.

Fringe benefits will add another 8 cents hourly to the employers cost.

Old People's Club Elects 17-Year-Old Youth As President

READING, Pa. (AP)—Uninvited, but not unwelcome, a youth has tossed in his lot with the old folks.

A 17-year-old boy was elected president Wednesday of an old people's club which plugs for government pensions for everyone over 60.

No one could foresee the consequences when the Townsend Club No. 1 asked Robert J. Pastor, a senior at Central Catholic High School, to a meeting two weeks ago to play his accordion.

"I hear you need a new president," Pastor said. "I might as well take it."

And take it he did, without platform or a campaign. He succeeds Paul W. Beecher, 73, president the past 11 years.

He also pulled in a young running mate. Marvin C. Kline, 14, a 10th-grader, was elected vice president. Alice Spangler, a grandmother, was elected secretary.

None of the 12 active members, most of them over 60, wanted the presidency, it seems. And, as one of them explained, "We need young blood."

The club was organized in the 30s by Dr. Francis Townsend. The original aim was $200 monthly pensions for everyone over 60. The movement has died out, but several chapters have carried on, primarily as social clubs. They still plug for pensions. The chapter here has lowered its sights to $140 a month.

Pastor spent his time trying to dodge reporters and photographers. "No, I haven't any particular reason for wanting to become president," he said.

He tried to avoid the cameras. Puffing nervously on a cigarette, he was violating one of the club's cardinal rules: No smoking.

Beloit Village Council Plans To Cooperate In Civil Defense

BELOIT — Members of the Beloit Village Council discussed the forming of a Civil Defense organization in Beloit at the regular meeting Monday night.

Sal Trainer of Sebring, the area civilian defense director, attended the meeting and it was agreed that he, Mayor Robert Mellott, Police Chief Charles Rose and Fire Chief Lawrence Whitla would work out details of a defense program.

They will be in charge of preparations for housing 2,000 evacuees from the Youngstown area in case of a nuclear attack. The Beloit school would be used for the housing.

Council voted not to close a portion of Chestnut St. between the properties of Lewis Glass and Ernest Case. The request was made at last month's meeting.

Village expenditures for the year 1960 was estimated at $12,000. The budget was prepared by the clerk, Glenn Turner, who will submit it to the Mahoning County Budget Commission.

Street superintendent Charles Ware and the council street committee were told to inspect the village streets to determine where repairs are most needed.

Eastern Part of Nation Hit by Rainy Weather

By The Associated Press
Persistent rains which have dampened much of the Eastern section of the country this week didn't appear letting up much today.

Showery and cloudy weather continued through southern New England to the New Jersey coast during the night and early morning. More rain was expected along the mid-Atlantic coast while inland the outlook was for scattered showers and thunderstorms from New England southward to the Virginias.

Showers and thunderstorms were indicated during the afternoon and evening from Florida and the Carolinas westward across the Gulf states and the southern Ohio Valley to the southern central Plains and the Dakotas.

The same forecast was for the central Plains and the Dakotas. But sunny skies were the rule again in most of the Great Lakes region, the northern Rockies and the Pacific Coast region.

Police Hold Janitor In Death of Wife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police are holding a 40-year-old janitor today for investigation of homicide. The man's estranged wife, Mrs. Mattye Johnson, 34, was fatally shot at her East Side home here Wednesday night.

Police Lt. Charles Koehler arrested Howard W. Johnson as he hid in a car near where the shooting occurred. Johnson had a rifle with him, police said.

Neighbors said they saw the victim and a man struggling on the porch over a rifle. They said the man told Mrs. Johnson, "Give me the gun and I won't shoot you."

When the woman gave him the weapon, he shot her in the chest and head, police said. She died about an hour later in St. Anthony Hospital.

O'Toole Lifted In 7th Inning, But Redlegs Win 11-5

Allowed Cards Only Five Hits

Bell Gets Five Hits In Six Trips to Plate

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Young Jim O'Toole seems to be getting closer to being the pitcher the Cincinnati Reds hoped he would be when the season opened.

O'Toole, given his major league chance after a brilliant season with Nashville last year, got away to a miserable start this year.

He didn't win a game until July 3 when he went six innings and got credit for a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia. Wednesday night the southpaw lasted until the seventh as the Reds walloped the St. Louis Cardinals, 11-5.

O'Toole, seeming to tire and losing control, was lifted after walking the first two men in the seventh. He had a 9-2 lead, however, and had allowed the Cards only five hits. He had struck out four and walked six.

With Gus Bell and Frank Robinson on a hitting rampage, continued improvement by O'Toole might help solve a lot of manager Fred Hutchinson's problems.

Of course Bell, with a five for six night, and Robinson with two for four, weren't the only Redlegs hitting Wednesday night.

The club as a whole reached a season high in hit production with 19.

Robinson's three runs batted in, two of them on his 24th home run, gave him 85 for the season and the National League lead in that department.

Robinson's homer got O'Toole away to a two-run lead in the first inning. The Cards got one of those back in the third as O'Toole's wild pitch let in the run.

Wilmer Mizell, complaining of his ailing back, bowed out in the fourth after giving a walk to Dutch Dotterer and a single to Willie Jones. Jack Urban and Dean Stone followed him to the mound as the Reds scored five times.

There was a walk to Frank Thomas, singles by Eddie Kasko and O'Toole and a base clearing double by Johnny Temple.

A walk to Alex Grammas and a triple by pinch hitter Curtis Flood gave the Cards another run in the fifth but singles by Temple, Vada Pinson and Bell and Robinson's sacrifice fly enabled the Reds to score once in the sixth and they did it again in the seventh on Thomas' double, a single by Kasko, an error and a sacrifice fly.

Brooks Lawrence bailed O'Toole out of trouble in the Cards half of the seventh but they nicked him for three runs in the eighth.

The Reds loaded the bases in the ninth and Bell singled home the final two Cincinnati runs.

Jim Brosnan, a former Cardinal, was slated to pitch for Cincinnati tonight against Ernie Broglio in the windup of the series.

ART WALL, JR.

From Tee to Cup

Wall's Pendulum Action Pays Off On Little Chips

By ART WALL JR.
1959 Masters Champion

The shot off the edge of the green — that little chip shot from 60 feet on in — is one that troubles many an average golfer.

When I get in that position I try to think of a pendulum on a clock. I go straight back of the ball and straight through.

You keep your feet close together on this shot, the knees bent and let the club do the work.

I try to hit down on the spot after I pick a place on the green where I want the ball to land. I try to get the ball to roll the rest of the way. For this shot I suggest a 6 iron.

I try to keep my hands ahead of the ball. I feel as though I'm letting my hands go into the hole. It's a firm shot with very little wrist break.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Art Wall Jr., 35, won the 1959 Masters tournament by scoring five birdies on the last six holes. The touring pro from Pocono Manor, Pa., led in money won during the first six months this year.

Olmedo, Bartzén

Make Quarter-Finals

CHICAGO (AP)—Alex Olmedo, making up for lost time, and Bernard (Tut) Bartzén, playing his usual mechanical game with the usual successful results, have swept into today's quarter-finals of the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament.

Olmedo won three singles matches Wednesday in order to catch up with a brilliant field of United States and foreign players who had begun play Monday.

Alex, Wimbledon champion from Los Angeles and Peru, had been delayed in his arrival by a lengthy flight from Europe. He later teamed with Earl Buchholz, Jr., St. Louis, to protect their No. 1 doubles seeding with an easy win over Chester Demus and Len Anderson, both of River Forest, Ill.

Barry MacKay, Dayton, Ohio No. 2 singles seed behind Olmedo, also had arrived late from Europe, but he advanced only one round Wednesday before 19-year-old Larry Nagler of North Hollywood, Calif., upset him 6-4, 6-2.

Nagler moved into the round of 16 with a victory over Ron Fisher, Houston, 6-4, 6-4.

Bartzén, 31, brushed aside Mike Green of Miami, 6-2, 6-3. Tut, from Dallas, is seeded third.

Art Andrew, 21, former Big Ten champion at the University of Iowa, worked the only other major upset of the day, defeating Buchholz, seeded fourth, 2-6, 6-4, 9-7.

Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., turned back Ian Vermaak of South Africa, the top-ranked foreign entry, 6-2, 6-4.

LOSES IN TOURNEY
LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Maggie Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, was defeated Wednesday in the quarterfinals of the Women's Western Golf Assn. junior tournament here. She was eliminated by Sharon Fladoos of Dubuque, Iowa, 6 and 4.

Holly Mims Scores Win Over Benton

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Holly Mims' manager is still worried, even though his clever fighter outpointed hard — punching George Benton in 10 rounds Wednesday night.

"I was afraid of this guy Benton," said Manager Nick Trotta. "He was the most feared middleweight around. I suppose now that we've beaten him we won't get any other fights for 10 months."

Mims, eighth-ranked middleweight who fights out of Baltimore, weighed 155½ as he tied up Benton's attack, refusing to give the 159½-pound Philadelphia puncher a room.

The winner concentrated on short right uppercuts in taking an unanimous decision in the nationally televised bout.

Fisher's Beats Kitchens 4-2

Merchants Vending Routed by Stark's

Fisher's and Stark's Attics both opened up two-game leads as teams in three divisions of the Hot Stove League played off make-up games last night.

Manager Ralph Mancuso's unbeaten Fisher's nine came from behind to topple its nearest Class F rival, Youngstown Kitchens, by a score of 4-2. Stark's had an easier time in Class H, smashing the Merchants Vending 10-8.

In other action, Scott's Sports thumped Class G cellar-dwelling Bricker 18-3 while second place Eagles stayed in contention with a forfeit victory from the Italian Club.

The Fisher-Kitchen contest was halted in the fifth inning when Kitchen manager Jim Garrett pulled his team off the field following a dispute with umpire Charlie Huffer over the ejection of a player.

Fisher's had just scored all four of its runs in the first half of the inning. Prior to the flare-up the game was a battle of strikeouts. Dick Owens racked up 10 while Dave Capel, his opponent for Kitchens, set down nine via the strikeout route.

John Tolson was the big man in Scott's attack with a home run and a triple. Doug Plastow and Chuck Alexander also added round trippers.

The Merchant-Stark contest was featured by the heavy slugging of both outfits. Schuster of Stark's laced out a pair of homers while teammate Lantz added another. Pitcher Gary Walker connected for the Merchants.

Feicht Pitches One-Hitter As Shaffer's Rips Herron's

Shaffer Ford's Bruce Feicht tossed a nifty one-hitter in pitching his team to a 10-2 victory over Herron Transfer in Class AA play Wednesday night at Kelley Park.

Old Dutch pressed containing Leetonia OSI but couldn't pull off the upset, losing 6-4. Farmers National Bank pounded out 12 hits to topple Sebring 7-5.

Shaffer's opened the scoring in the second inning, when Don Brudery tripled to right center and scored on an error. They then blasted the game wide-open in the third with six runs, featured by a pair of triples, three doubles and two singles.

Strangely enough, Herron's only hit, garnered by Gordie Arndt, did not figure in their scoring. The Truckers tallied their two runs in the third on a hit batsman, an infield out, Phil Thayer's walk and an error.

93 Women Golfers Tee Off at Alliance

ALIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Ninety-three of the nation's finest female golfers tee off today for the start of the 72-hole International Open Golf Tournament. Beverly Hanson, who shattered the Alliance Country Club course record in a tuneup Wednesday, predicted 283 strokes would win the title.

The blonde Miss Hanson, a touring professional from Indio, Calif., was rated one of the top contenders after firing a two-under par 69 over the 6,253-yard course. It was five strokes better than the former record by Mrs. Zella Bradshaw of the host club.

Others rated highly in the medal play chase for top money out of the $12,500 purse are Betsy Rawls, of Spartanburg, S.C., the year's leading money winner; national Open champion Mickey Wright, of Bonita, Calif., and veteran Patty Berg, of St. Andrews, Ill.

A total of 32 teams competed in a pro-amateur event Wednesday. Each team had two men amateurs, one woman amateur and one woman pro. The winning team, with a best ball score of 62, was composed of professional Barbara Rotvig, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and three Ohioans, Margaret Barton of Columbus and Bernice Aleman and Don Voth, both of Akron.

Voth's 69 was the lowest among the men. Peggy Kirk Bell, former Ohio State champion from Findlay, came in with an 81, while Bonnie Randolph, ex-Ohio State student, had a smooth 38-36-74.

Betty Kerby, of Akron, current Buckeye women's champ, paired two rounds of 40 for an 18-hole total of 80.

Indian-Yankee Tilts Postponed by Rain

NEW YORK (AP)—Cal McLish, leading pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, will make one less start on the current eastern trip as a result of Wednesday's rain-postponed doubleheader with the New York Yankees.

The veteran right-hander (11-3) was scheduled to pitch Wednesday and then was expected to go against the Red Sox in a four-game series at Boston.

As it stands now, he will pitch the first game of today's twin bill, skip the Boston series and hurl the opener of a three-game series against the Yankees in Cleveland next Tuesday night.

Bob (Riverboat) Smith, a left-hander recently acquired by the Indians, will pitch the second game today. Manager Joe Gordon made no changes in his pitching assignments against the Yankees as a result of the postponement.

Washington Scores Win Over Detroit

By The Associated Press

On a rainy afternoon in Mid-March Harmon Killebrew shrugged and said, "I think I may be able to hit better if I can hang on long enough to get a good look at the pitchers."

Four months later, on a rainy night in mid-July, Harmon swung and put himself nine games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 home run pace.

That shot Wednesday night was Killebrew's 31st, tops in the majors. It touched off a 3-0 victory over Detroit that pulled the Washington Senators past the Tigers into fifth place in the American League.

The game, held to five innings by rain, was the Nats' 85th. Ruth didn't hit No. 31 until his New York Yankees were in their 94th game when he set the record in 1927.

Rookie Bob Allison drove in the other Senator runs with a pair of doubles while Camilo Pascual, winning 10 for the first time in the majors, put the Tigers away on one hit. Jim Bunning was the loser.

It was the only AL game played. The others were rained out.

Interest In Outdoors Picking Up, Wildlife Officials Say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Interest in wildlife, and the outdoors, is picking up.

There are many signs of this according to a number of officials in the Ohio Division of Wildlife, the Division of Parks, and other agencies.

Bill Price, the Division of Parks' chief naturalist, says there has been a decided increase in interest in the outdoors from a naturalist viewpoint.

"At Lake Hope State Park in Vinton County, for instance," he reports, "attendance on our automobile nature trip has nearly doubled. On the two-mile hike through Zaleski State Forest, the attendance has jumped nearly 30 per cent."

And V. W. Flickinger, chief of the Parks Division, reported that "with our present construction program underway in the campground at East Harbor State Park in Ottawa County, you would think that a curtailment of visitors would be noticed. Yet on July 4, there were 5,162 registered campers."

He said the amazing factor is that 848 of the 1,256 acres of East Harbor are the water of Lake Erie. That leaves 408 land acres, or less than eight-tenths of an acre for each camper.

S. I. Bastian, district park manager for the division, said that "tent and trailer camping on state-owned areas in southern Ohio has probably doubled during the past year." He added that on almost every weekend during the summer months, the division's facilities are taxed beyond their capacity. And picnicking spots are usually at a premium too, he said.

The Division of Wildlife reports that nutria are increasing in Ohio. This large swamp-dwelling rodent from South America was introduced by fur farmers. It escaped and is living in the wild in some parts of the state. Because of a heavy demand for information about the animal, the division has published a bulletin available at the division headquarters here.

But authorities say that nutria can add very little to the wildlife scene and might prove to be quite destructive. They urge caution in buying nutria brood stock as the venture is risky and if the animals escape they are capable of doing damage to Ohio marshes and swamps.

The nutria is large, weighing up to 18 pounds and they require so much food that a colony can destroy valuable muskrat and waterfowl habitat. The division said the nutria fur is of little value on the market.

If you want more wildlife on your farm, the Division of Wildlife will help you in providing a better home for farm game and fur species. Best man for immediate contact is your county game protector.

A revised edition of a bulletin "Protection of Plants and Animals in Ohio" is now available from the Department of Natural Resources.

It cost 84 fishermen in Wildlife District 5, with headquarters in Chillicothe, a total of $1,631 in fines during June, for not having fishing licenses.

GIRL DROWNS IN POND

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mary Zajs, 12 of Broadview Heights, was drowned Wednesday in a pond in that suburb. Two companions with whom the girl had been swimming dragged her ashore and then ran for help, but efforts of police and firemen to revive her were futile.

Topographic Map To Be Made of Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two state departments and the federal government have teamed up to find out what shape Ohio is in literally. The result will be a topographic map.

A topographic map shows the configuration of the earth's or in this case Ohio's surface. Ralph Bernhagen, chief of the Ohio Division of Geological Survey, says they're essential for planning roads, factory sites, parks, pipelines or any similar development.

The Natural Resources Department, of which the division is a part, has a million-dollar appropriation for the job, and the Highway Department—which wants the information as an aid to road-building—is kicking in another million. The federal government is matching this with two million more.

Field teams from the U.S. Geological Survey have already begun photographing northwest Ohio from the air, Bernhagen says.

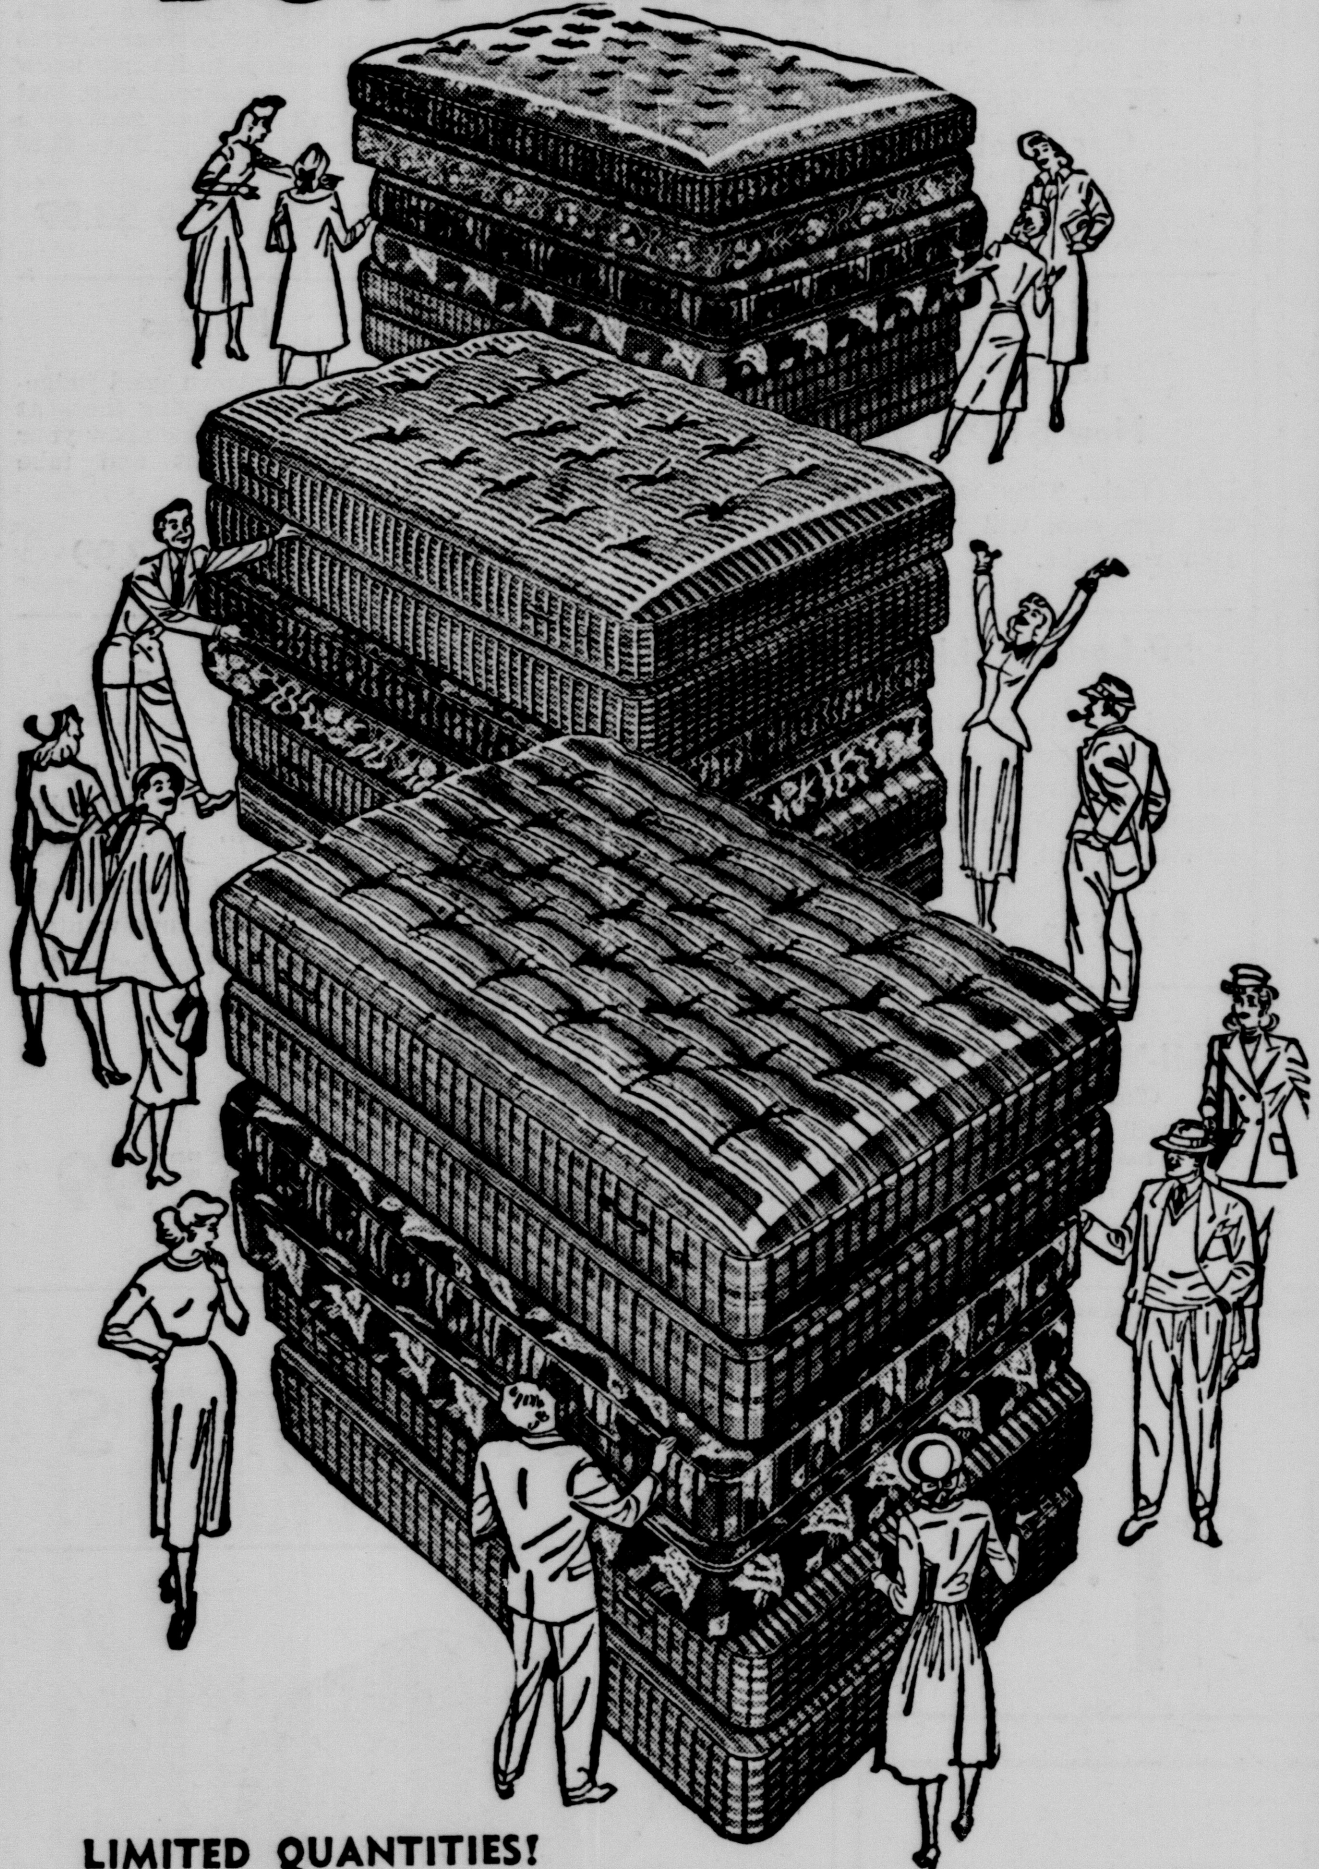

NAMED DEAN OF WOMEN
NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Laurena A. Beadle has been named dean of women and associate professor of psychology at Muskingum College here. She was former assistant director of women's affairs at Michigan State University.

Pineapple Swizzletea Is Switch

Rapidly we are getting into the iced tea season. Everyone knows that iced tea is one of the most pleasant answers to how to keep cool on a hot summer day. By the pitcherful or by the gallon, it is a hot weather refresher.

The following recipe makes about 2 quarts of iced tea. To make it by the gallon, double the recipe.

Iced Tea Recipe
(Makes 10 to 12 servings)
Bring 1 quart of water to a full rolling boil in an open saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 1-3 cup loose tea for 15 tea-bags. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain into a container holding an additional quart of cold water. When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses. Serve with lemon and sugar to taste.

Although we prefer iced tea just "as is" without sugar or lemon or any fixings, many people enjoy it fancied up.

Pineapple Swizzletea
Add a pineapple swizzle stick (a slice of fresh pineapple with some spires left on top), a clove studded slice of lemon, a little lime and lemon juice to an ordinary pitcher of iced tea, and you have what is known as Pineapple Swizzletea. Delicious, refreshing — just the thing with a few small sandwiches for lunch on a sweltering hot day.

Health Unit Meets At Kolozsi Cottage

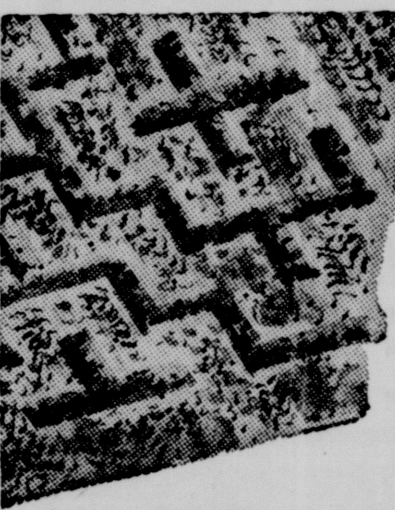

The Lake Hope Conference Health Team met recently at the cottage of Dr. William Kolozsi at Sevakene Lake. Twelve members of the 21 member team were present, including James L. McBride, Columbiana County School superintendent; Mrs. Royce Briggs, Leetonia school cafeteria worker; Mrs. C. V. Campbell, therapist; Mrs. Anna Gruber, Heart Association; E. S. Kerr, Salem school superintendent; Dr. Kolozsi, president of the Columbiana County Medical Society; Mrs. Norma Nulf, Lisbon School elementary teacher; Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County health commissioner; Mrs. Ralph Phillips, County Health and Safety Council; Lorin Ruff, Columbiana County school system; Mrs. Frank Solak, Columbiana County school system; Miss Lillian R. Schroeder, executive director of the County Public Health League.

Mr. McBride, chairman of the Conference team, conducted the afternoon meeting. Mrs. Norma Nulf presented color slides of a unit on dental health which she had worked out with her third grade students. In preparation for the unit Mrs. Nulf had received help and guidance from Miss Lillian Schroeder and Mrs. Mildred Ashbridge, Lisbon school nurse. Mrs. Nulf said that the slides of the unit are available for loan to schools or to health groups.

A discussion of civil defense followed the presentation of the slides. It was suggested that education for survival is very important and should be given consideration in school curriculum planning. Miss Schroeder, secretary, was instructed to write for materials about education for survival to be circulated to the team members.

The next conference will be held in October at which time a chairman for the coming year will be selected.

Veal Cutlets Look Good, Taste Better

An artist with oils or a photograph in color just couldn't do justice to this super dish featuring veal cutlets, in combination with peaches, raisins, lemon juice and curry powder.

Veal Cutlets, Peach Sauce
2 veal round steaks, cut 1/2 inch thick, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons lard or drippings, 1 can (6 ounces) sliced peaches, water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons raisins, 1/2 cup water, 2 teaspoons cornstarch.

Pour off drippings. Drain peaches, reserving juice. Add enough water to peach juice to make 1 cup liquid. Add 1 cup li-

Cut each veal steak into 3 servings or cutlets. Mix together curry powder, salt, pepper and flour. Pound seasoned flour into cutlets. Brown cutlets in lard or drippings.

Stuff Baked Potatoes With Vegetables

Both potatoes and potato chips are all-time favorites. But how about using them in new ways just to prove to ourselves spring is here.

Baked Stuffed Potatoes With Mixed Vegetables (4 servings)
Four large baking potatoes, washed and dried; 3/4 cup (about) light cream, 1/4 cup butter, melted; 3/4 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1/4 teaspoon oregano (optional), 1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen mixed garden vegetables, cooked and drained; 1 tablespoon chopped chives or finely chopped onion.

Place potatoes on baking sheet or oven rack in 450-degree F. oven. Bake 45 minutes to one hour, or until potatoes are tender when pricked with a fork.

Remove from oven and immediately cut a horizontal slice from top of each. Scoop out potatoes, being careful not to break the skins, and mash well. Add cream, whipping until light and fluffy.

Blend in butter and seasonings. Fold in mixed vegetables and chives. Pile mixture into potato skins and top with paprika, parsley, grated Parmesan cheese, grated Cheddar cheese, or crumbled bacon, if desired.

Return to oven for 10 minutes, or until potato tops are lightly browned. (Stuffed potatoes may be prepared ahead of time, refrigerated, and heated for 20 to 30 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) before serving).

Creamed Beef, Potato Chip Casserole
One package dried chipped beef, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon each minced onion and parsley, a pinch of nutmeg and thyme, 2 cups crushed potato chips.

Make a white sauce of butter, flour and milk. Add beef, parsley, onion, thyme and nutmeg. Line individual casseroles thickly with crushed potato chips. Pour beef in gently, cover with more potato chips. Put in hot oven 400 degrees F. for about 5 minutes until chips are golden.

When fresh apricots are in the market, poach them in a sugar syrup. They're delightful served with soft custard.

Cook extra asparagus stalks; marinate in olive oil, lemon juice, salt and pepper in the refrigerator. Serve with romaine and hard-cooked egg (sliced) for a delicious appetizer.

quid, lemon juice and raisins to add to liquid in pan.

Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add peach slices and heat through. Serve the peach sauce over meat. Yield: 6 servings.

Golden Aloha Cake Is Hawaii-Inspired

Straight from the sunny, romantic land of Hawaii and coconut palms and orchids comes the inspiration for the luscious Golden Aloha Cake.

The tender, rich butter and cake flour homemaker layer cake, flavored with coconut milk is frosted over is going just a little over half with a White Mountain Icing, fluffy with fresh coconut.

This elegant dessert is "made from scratch" even tropical weather conditions needn't frighten you away from this recipe.

The mixing method is simplified — butter, sugar and eggs are combined on the electric mixer; remaining dry ingredients are then added alternately with milk. Your oven is going just a little over half an hour.

Grated orange rind, added to the cake batter, blends perfectly with the flavor of the fresh coconut.

Golden Aloha Cake
2-3 cup soft butter, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs (1-3 to ½ cup), 3 cups sifted cake flour, 2½ teaspoons of baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups coconut milk, 2 teaspoons of grated orange rind.

Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate). Grease well and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 9 x 1½. Combine butter, sugar, eggs in a mixing bowl.

Beat 5 minutes high speed on

Coffee Nog

Ingredients: 1 large egg, 2 cups milk, ½ cup instant non-fat dry milk (not liquefied), 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon instant coffee powder, cognac.

Method: Beat eggs enough to combine yolk and white. Add milk, non-fat dry milk, sugar and coffee and beat until smooth. Add cognac to taste. Chill or serve over ice cubes. Makes 2 large servings.

Pork Chops in Sauce Make Outdoor Feast

Because they make patio cooking far easier, electric appliances are often used in place of charcoal. With them you can be more sure the foods will be thoroughly cooked.

With pork products, especially, this is important — and charcoal cooking is always hazardous in this respect.

With an electric rotisserie, barbecued spareribs can be done to a turn; or pork chops can be pan-broiled golden and tender in an electric skillet.

The following recipe for pork chops in orange sauce is taken from Betty Watson's "Dinners That Wait," a particularly good recent cook book, and adapted for the electric skillet.

After the chops are ready, they can be transferred to a covered casserole while vegetables are quickly cooked or reheated in the same pan. Frozen peas, for example, will be ready in 5 minutes; no water need be added.

Simply melt a large lump of butter in the electric skillet, set at 350 degrees F., add the frozen block of peas, cover, cook 1 minute.

Break up the frozen block, sprinkle with salt and mint flavoring, cover again with vent closed and reset the control to 200 degrees F.

The peas will have more flavor this way and can be served right from the skillet. If a little of the pork remains in the skillet, so much the better — that will add flavor to the peas, too.

Pork Chops with Orange Sauce
Heat electric skillet to 400 degrees F. In it place ½ teaspoon salt, then add 6 pork chops which have been trimmed of excess fat. Move pork chops around hot skillet until fat has been drawn out, to prevent sticking.

Turn when lightly browned on one side. Add whole garlic to pan, mashing with the back of wooden spoon. Move the mashed garlic around pan to let it "kiss" the essence of fat being drawn out, then remove.

After pork chops have been browned on both sides, add to pan 1-3 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and ½ cup water. Cover skillet, simmer at 200 degrees F. for 20 minutes, leaving vent open.

Turn heat to 160 degrees F., add 4 tablespoons sour cream to sauce in pan, stirring to blend. Serve chops at once, with the sauce, or keep hot in casserole until peas are cooked.

Orange Blintzes

Ingredients: 4 large eggs, 1 cup sifted flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup strained orange juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla, butter. Cottage Cheese Filling.

Method: Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites. Sift together the flour, sugar and salt; gradually beat into eggs alternately with orange juice and water, until smooth.

Add vanilla. Heat about ½ teaspoon butter in an 8-inch skillet; hold skillet off heat and add about 2 tablespoons batter; swirl off heat so mixture covers pan.

Brown rapidly on one side; turn out on board, unbrowned side down. Adding about ¼ teaspoon butter each time, continue making pancakes.

Put a generous tablespoonful of the cheese mixture at one end of pancake; turn side edges over and roll up.

Heat and lightly brown stuffed pancakes in hot butter in large skillet. Serve hot with sour cream or whipped sweet cream flavored with lemon juice.

Cottage Cheese Filling: Mix together 1 pound dry cottage cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 to 5 tablespoons sugar and grated rind of 1 orange.

Strawberry Cream Dessert Is Elegant

Cool, easy desserts with a flair of elegance are a boon to cooks who want more free time outdoors during the summer and fall. Just such a dessert is Strawberry Cream, a melt-in-your-mouth delicacy with an appearance that belies its easy preparation.

Strawberry Cream

1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 cups halved fresh strawberries, 1 cup cream, whipped.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Combine strawberries and sugar and let stand 10 minutes.

Place slightly thickened gelatin in a bowl of ice and water and whip with egg beater until fluffy and thick. Fold in strawberries and whipped cream. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Chill. Garnish with whole strawberry fans. Makes 10 servings.

Fun for the kiddies! Children delight in fancying up fresh fruit cups for the whole family by cutting melon balls with a French ball cutter and serving themselves a plate of their handiwork for afternoon snacks.

A good help - yourself thirst-quenching snack to leave for the refrigerator raiders is a whole pared pineapple (covered with transparent plastic film) - everyone is invited to cut a slice.

Roast Beef Salad Is Summer Treat

Warm weather Sunday evening supper parties call for meal-type salads that keep men happy. In California, where casual outdoor parties are particularly popular, we've enjoyed these two recipes. Joe Canet of Mill Valley is both an accomplished chef and assistant chief of police. Here's a hearty salad, typically Californian, that is one of Joe's favorites.

Joe's Beef Salad (4 servings)

Four thin slices roast beef, prepared mustard, dried dill, salt, 4 finger length strips Cheddar of Jack cheese, 1 quart crisp salad greens, creamy onion dressing.

Creamy Onion Dressing

One-half cup commercial sour cream or mayonnaise, 1/4 cup sauerkraut or other white dinner wine, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 or 3 drops hot pepper sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley or watercress. Blend all ingredients together; chill until ready to serve.

Thin beef slices lightly with mustard; sprinkle with dill and salt. Roll up, like jelly roll, with a cheese strip in center of each slice. Chill until ready to serve. Toss bite-size pieces crisp greens with creamy onion dressing. Pile on chilled salad plates and top with a beef roll, cut into thirds diagonally.

Pacific Tuna Bean Salad

One (No. 303) can blue lake green beans (whole, vertical pack or cut), 1 tablespoon wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons salad oil, salt, pepper, crisp shredded lettuce, 1 (6 1/2 or 7 ounce can) tuna, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup chili sauce, 1 tablespoon wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons drained pickle relish, 1 hard-boiled egg, chopped.

Drain beans. Combine wine vinegar, salad oil, salt and pepper to taste. Toss with beans. Chill thoroughly. In shallow bowl place a layer of crisp lettuce. Top with beans, drained. Flake tuna coarsely over beans. Combine all remaining ingredients and mix well. Spoon over tuna layer. Serve at once.

Prune Bars

Ingredients: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1-1 1/3 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup (15 jumbo-size) lightly cooked sweetened prunes (pitted and sliced), 1/2 cup coarsely broken walnuts.

Method: Cream butter and granulated sugar; with a spoon blend in 1 cup of the flour. Pack into an 8 by 8 by 2 inch baking pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 minutes.

Sift together the remaining 1-3 cup flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; gradually beat in brown sugar, then vanilla.

Fold in prunes and walnuts. Spread over baked layer. Return to moderate oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean - 40 to 50 minutes.

Cool by placing pan on wire rack; while still warm run a spatula around inside edge of pan; turn out; turn right side up; cut into 16 squares, then cut each square into 2 small bars. When cold store in a tightly covered container.

If you have found it difficult to make popovers from scratch, you may have more success with a mix from the grocery shelf.

Mr. and Mrs. Richie Hepburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sidwell accompanied their daughter Emma to Columbus where she was to continue to Wilmington to attend camp.

Mrs. Eugene Meiser, who has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. S. T. Burt for the past several weeks, left for Passa Granda, Ariz. recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Meiser have returned from a western trip and will make their home in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Brinker were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meek of Massillon.

No one knows why Michigan's popular name is "The Wolverine State." Some people believe that early settlers found many of the animals called wolverines. However, experts have been unable to find any trace of them. Michigan's first explorers did find other great natural treasures, though. One of the most valuable of these was fur—beaver, mink, fox, bear, and muskrat.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Science Must Conquer Multiple Sclerosis

One of the most important diseases still to be conquered is known as multiple sclerosis. It is a chronic disorder believed to afflict 100,000 in the United States alone.

No one should jump to the conclusion that he has the disease merely because he has some of the symptoms which may occur in multiple sclerosis.

Its diagnosis is complicated and must always be made by a skilled physician.

THE DISEASE attacks several parts of the nervous system. It is for this reason that it is called "multiple."

The symptoms vary, depending on what parts of the nervous system are involved. Since the location varies, there are no completely typical symptoms.

Seeing double, a trembling or tremor when trying to pick up some object, and a gait which looks somewhat like that of a drunken person are probably the most common. One or all of these may be absent.

The disease tends to go through periods of great improvement. If these good periods can be lengthened and the bad ones shortened, it is a good sign. A warm climate, and freedom from colds and other infections of the nose and throat may help to prevent the downswing of the disease.

STUDY OF multiple sclerosis has been speeded in recent years by the activity of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society (257 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, New York).

In a special year-end report from that society, many interesting developments were documented.

In 1958, for example, the society spent approximately $300,000 on its medical and scientific program. This included the support of research and the establishment of clinics, which now number 29.

Many facets of the disease, as well as basic research, are being studied or supported by this society.

It was pointed out, for example, that multiple sclerosis is more prevalent in colder climates than in warmer ones. Also, the disease occurs slightly more often among women than men. But the why of both these facts remain unknown.

THREE OTHER lines of investigation deserve special attention.

One which is being studied is the possibility that a virus may play a part in causing multiple sclerosis.

Another goes under the forbidding name of gas chromatography. This actually is a test permitting active analysis of the fats and fatty acids in the blood. It may prove important, since these substances make up different parts of the nerve cells and fibers which are the center of attack in multiple sclerosis.

There is also a study of multiple sclerosis in twins. This study will be reopened in about five years and may or may not reveal the presence of hereditary factors in the disease.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Winona Jolly Bunch 4-H club held a picnic July 7 at the Winona playground. The adviser, Mrs. Steve Knizat, checked the projects. Came and a wiener roast followed.

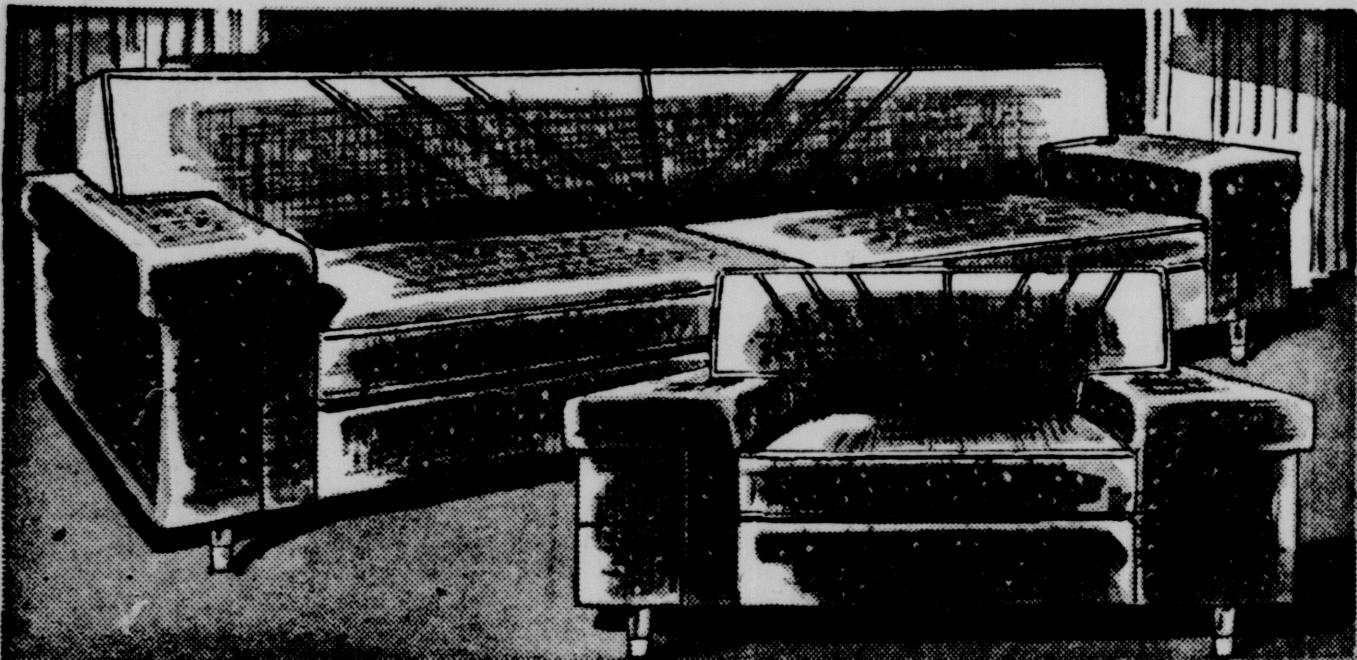

Thomas of the Stitch and Chatter 4-H Club was the guest.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Steve Knizat July 17 at 7:30 p.m., at which Miss Julia Shank will judge the projects.
